Item 8.01 Other Events

The Terrace Bay, Ontario pulp mill operated by Neenah Paper Company of Canada (NPCC), a wholly owned subsidiary of the registrant, Neenah Paper, Inc. (the Company), commenced closure activities on February 20, 2006 as a result of a lack of wood fiber for its operations. The Terrace Bay mill's fiber supply has been exhausted as a result of the previously reported strike by the woodlands workers who are employed by NPCC's forestry operations that supply wood fiber to the Terrace Bay mill. The Terrace Bay mill employs approximately 400 hourly and salaried workers.

It is expected that most of the hourly and salaried employees in the Terrace Bay mill will be laid off for an indefinite period during the two weeks following the commencement of closure activities. A small group of hourly and salaried employees are expected to remain at the facility during the winter months for security operations, boiler and related equipment operation and maintenance during the warm shutdown. A lengthy shutdown of the Terrace Bay mill could have a material impact on the results of operations of NPCC and the Company.
