Ternium Updates Market on Sidor Nationalization Process

Luxembourg, April 17, 2008 – Ternium S.A. (NYSE: TX) announced today that, following the confirmation of the Venezuelan government’s decision to nationalize Sidor, Ternium, Sidor and the Venezuelan government have entered into an agreement providing for the creation of a transition committee, composed of representatives of the government, the union and Sidor’s Class B shareholders. This committee will oversee Sidor’s operations during the transition period until the nationalization is completed, acting in coordination with Sidor’s board of directors. The discussions among representatives of Ternium and the Venezuelan government regarding the terms and conditions under which all or a significant part of Ternium’s interest in Sidor should be transferred to the government are expected to begin today.

Forward Looking Statements

Some of the statements contained in this press release are “forward-looking statements”. Forward-looking statements are based on management’s current views and assumptions and involve known and unknown risks that could cause actual results, performance or events to differ materially from those expressed or implied by those statements. These risks include but are not limited to risks arising from uncertainties as to gross domestic product, related market demand, global production capacity, tariffs, cyclicity in the industries that purchase steel products and other factors beyond Ternium’s control.
