Hoffman, Jr., pursuant to which Mr. Hoffman, 45, was hired as NeoMedia’s Chief Executive Officer with an effective date of June 18, 2007. Mr. Hoffman replaces Charles W. Fritz, who has been Interim Chief Executive Officer since December 8, 2006.

Uniqua also provides enterprise mobile commerce and data solutions to businesses. He co-founded Vectorlink Communications Corporation, a subsidiary of Uniqua, which provides licensed and unlicensed broadband and telephony services to government, business, and consumers in Texas.

Prior to this, Mr. Hoffman was President and CEO for mBlox, Inc., the world’s largest wireless transaction processing network, from 2002 to 2004. There he focused on reorganizing, restructuring, and then rapidly growing the business to over 180 countries. His responsibilities included capital structure, Board, organization, strategy, and execution of the firm’s business plan. He was instrumental in developing partnerships with more than 500 wireless operators around the globe including Vodafone®, T-Mobile®, Verizon® and Cingular®, and achieving a $75 million annual run-rate in 18 months time for the world’s largest provider of messaging infrastructure.

Before joining mBlox, Mr. Hoffman served at the pleasure of numerous large private equity firms who employed his skills to repair and rebuild substantial telephony and global wireless businesses in their portfolios. His successes include Advanced Telcom Group, Nuvox, Krone, and MobileSys, Inc. From 1997 to 2000, Mr. Hoffman served as an officer of Dobson Communications Corporation (NASDAQ: DCEL) and the president and chief operating officer of Logix Communications Enterprises, a business-to-business integrated voice and data service provider for which he led the spin off from Dobson.

Mr. Hoffman was Intermedia Communications Division Vice President-Florida from 1995 to 1997, where he grew the company's fiber-optic network and oversaw the creation of the largest competitive local phone and data service provider in Florida. From 1987 to 1995 Mr. Hoffman worked in numerous positions in sales, marketing and management at Sprint's Business Services Unit. He was a Captain in the U.S. Army in Europe working in military intelligence from 1983 to 1987. Mr. Hoffman holds a B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Auburn University.
