We use words like anticipates, believes, expects, future and intends, and similar expressions to mean that the statement is forward-looking. You should not unduly rely on these forward-looking statements, which apply only as of the date of this annual report. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in the forward-looking statements for many reasons, including the risks described under Risk Factors.

Beginning with the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002, we prepare our consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, commonly referred to as U.S. GAAP. Prior to 2002, we prepared our consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Israel, referred to as Israeli GAAP. Israeli GAAP and U.S. GAAP vary in certain respects. As a result, we have restated certain figures in our financial statements relating to prior periods. In accordance with U.S. GAAP, we use the United States dollar as our reporting currency. Prior to 2002, we presented our consolidated financial statements in New Israeli Shekels, or NIS, that have been adjusted to reflect changes in the Israeli consumer price index, or CPI.

As used in this annual report, references to dollar refer to the United States dollar and references to NIS refer to New Israeli Shekels.

D. Risk Factors

Our business, operating results and financial condition could be seriously harmed due to any of the following risks. The trading price of our ordinary shares could decline due to any of these risks.

We may experience significant fluctuations in our annual and quarterly results, which makes it difficult for investors to make reliable period-to-period comparisons and may contribute to volatility in the market price for our ordinary shares and American Depositary Shares.

Our quarterly and annual revenues, gross profits and results of operations have fluctuated significantly in the past and we expect them to continue to fluctuate significantly in the future. The following events may cause fluctuations:

- acquisitions and dispositions of companies and consolidation of our subsidiaries;
- the size, time and recognition of revenue from significant contracts;
- timing of product releases;
- foreign currencies value and timing of contracts;
- delays in implementation;
- changes in the proportion of service and license revenues;
- price and product competition;
- increases in selling and marketing expenses, as well as other operating expenses;
- technological changes;
- adverse economic conditions and currency fluctuations;
- the global business slow-down and the the recent sharp decline in capital spending in the information technology sector; and
- consolidation of our customers.

A substantial portion of our expenses, including most product development and selling and marketing expenses, must be incurred in advance of when revenue is generated. If our projected revenue does not meet our expectations, we are likely to experience an even larger shortfall in our operating profit relative to our expectations. The gross margins of our subsidiaries also will vary both among themselves and over time. As a result, changes in the revenue mix from these subsidiaries may affect quarterly operating results. In addition, we may derive a significant portion of our net income from transactions which involve equity issuances by our subsidiaries, the sale of equity securities of our subsidiaries or the sale of proprietary software technology. These events do not occur on a regular basis and their timing is difficult to predict. As a result, we believe that period-to-period comparisons of our historical results of operations are not necessarily meaningful and that you should not rely on them as an indication for future performance. Also, it is possible that our quarterly and annual results of operations may be below the expectations of public market analysts and investors. If this happens, the price of our ordinary shares will likely decrease.

We have been influenced by the recent global economic changes, and, in particular, the decline in information technology spending. If this trend continues, our business may be harmed.

We have been affected by global economic changes, in particular the recent sharp decline in capital spending in the information technology, or IT, sector and the overall business slow-down in North America and Europe, as well as in Israel. As a result of these global trends, in 2001, certain of our subsidiaries posted restructuring charges of approximately $11 million, related primarily to severance costs for employees, relocation expenses and expenses related to closing of branches. In addition, in 2001, certain of our subsidiaries wrote off goodwill and certain investments of $37 million in the aggregate, as a result of the effect of the global slow-down. We cannot assure you that this trend will not continue. Uncertainties in the North American and European market have influenced the purchasing patterns of leading software developers who delayed their planned orders and caused developers to reduce the amount of their planned license commitments. These changes in purchasing patterns in the IT industry directly affected the operating results of some of our subsidiaries which in turn affected our consolidated operating results. If this trend continues, our business could be seriously harmed.

If Formula Vision fails to repay its debt to us under the debentures, our business, financial condition and results of operations would be materially adversely affected.

One of our major assets is comprised of debentures issued to us by Formula Vision Technologies (F.V.T.) Ltd., or Formula Vision, in December 2001 and March 2002, in connection with the sale of private companies held by us to Formula Vision. The aggregate amount of the debentures, as of December 31, 2002 is $76 million. We evaluate, periodically, the quality of the indebtedness, the financial strength of Formula Vision and its ability to meet the repayment schedule of the loan. However, in the event that Formula Vision fails to repay the loan under the terms of the debentures, our business, financial condition and results of operations would be materially adversely affected.

Our success depends upon the development and maintenance of strategic alliances.

We established relationships with strategic partners to provide international marketing presence and name recognition, as well as the resources necessary to implement many of our IT services. We are dependent upon our strategic partners for the marketing and selling of certain of our proprietary software solutions. Recently, due to the global business slow-down, we have encountered difficulties in entering into new partnerships. If we cannot maintain our existing relationships with these partners or if we fail to establish effective, long-term relationships with additional partners, or if our partners enter into relationships with our competitors, our ability to market our proprietary software solutions in international markets may be limited. If this happens, our growth, if any, might be delayed or slowed-down. As a result our business, financial condition, and results of operations could be seriously harmed.

If our products fail to compete successfully with those of our competitors, we may have to reduce the prices of our products, which in turn, may adversely affect our business.

We face competition, both in Israel and internationally, from a variety of companies, including companies with significantly greater resources than us who are likely to enjoy substantial competitive advantages, including:

- longer operating histories;
- greater financial, technical, marketing and other resources;
- greater name recognition;
- well-established relationships with our current and potential clients; and
- a broader range of products and services.

As a result, they may be able to respond more quickly to new or emerging technologies or changes in customer requirements. They may also benefit from greater purchasing economies, offer more aggressive product and service pricing or devote greater resources to the promotion of their products and services. In addition, in the future, we may face further competition from new market entrants and possible alliances between existing competitors. We also face additional competition as we continue to penetrate international markets. As a result, we cannot assure you that the products and solutions we offer will compete successfully with those of our competitors. Furthermore, several software development centers worldwide, like in India, offer software development services at much lower prices than we do. Due to the intense competition in the markets in which we operate, software products prices may fluctuate significantly. As a result, we may have to reduce the prices of our products, which in turn, may adversely affect our business.

If we fail to compete for acquisitions and investments, we may be unable to grow.

As part of our strategy, we intend to pursue acquisitions of, and investments in, other companies. If and when acquisition or investment opportunities occur, we expect to compete for these opportunities with other established and well-capitalized entities. We cannot assure you that we will be able to locate potential acquisition or investment opportunities in Israel or internationally on terms which are favorable to us. If we fail to consummate further acquisitions or investments in the future our ability to grow may be harmed.

Any future acquisitions of companies or technologies and our restructuring process may distract our management and disrupt our business.

Our strategy includes selective acquisitions of, and investments in, companies offering products and services suitable for integration into our business. We may acquire or make investments in complementary businesses, technologies, services or products if appropriate opportunities arise. We may engage in discussions and negotiations with companies about our acquiring or investing in those companies' businesses, products, services or technologies. We cannot assure you that we will be able to identify future suitable acquisition or investment candidates, or if we do identify suitable candidates, that we will be able to make the acquisitions or investments on commercially acceptable terms or at all. In addition, we have begun in 1999, a restructuring process of the Formula Group. This process involved acquisitions of interest in certain of our subsidiaries and affiliates by other subsidiaries and integration of businesses of certain subsidiaries within the businesses of other subsidiaries. If we acquire or invest in another company, or if any of our subsidiaries acquires control in another subsidiary or affiliate, the acquirer could have difficulty assimilating that company's personnel, operations, technology or products and service offerings into its own. The key personnel of the acquired company may decide not to work for the acquirer. These difficulties could disrupt our ongoing business, distract our management and employees, increase our expenses and adversely affect our results of operations. We may incur indebtedness or issue equity securities to pay for any future acquisitions. The issuance of equity securities could be dilutive to our existing shareholders.

We intend to pursue acquisitions outside of Israel as part of our expansion strategy. These acquisitions, as well as any future acquisitions of companies located outside of Israel, would pose additional risks, including monitoring a management team from a great distance and integrating a potentially different business culture. Our failure to successfully integrate these new businesses could harm our business. In addition, the investigation of acquisition candidates outside of Israel involves higher costs than those associated with pursuing domestic acquisitions, and we cannot assure you that these investigations will result in transactions.

If we fail to raise capital for our subsidiaries, we may be required to borrow money on unfavorable terms.

Our business strategy involves raising capital for our subsidiaries through public or private offerings. Our ability to raise capital for our subsidiaries depends upon market and other conditions which are beyond our control. If we fail to raise capital for our subsidiaries, it may hinder their growth. We may therefore be required to seek alternative capital raising methods, including borrowing money on terms which are not favorable to us. Due to difficulties we encountered in 2002 in raising capital for our subsidiaries, we were required to borrow increased amounts from banks. Our short-term bank debt increased to $87.8 million as of December 31, 2002 compared to $53.3 million as of December 31, 2001. Difficulties in raising capital on favorable terms, may materially and adversely affect our business, operating results and financial condition.

The terms of our credit facilities contain a number of restrictive covenants which, if breached, could result in acceleration of our obligation to repay our debt.

Our loan agreements contain a number of conditions and limitations on the way in which we can operate our business, including limitations on our ability to raise debt and sell or acquire assets. Our loan agreements also contain various covenants which require us to maintain certain financial ratios related to shareholders' equity and operating results that are customary for companies of comparable size. These limitations and covenants may force us to pursue less than optimal business strategies or forego business arrangements which could have been financially advantageous to us or our shareholders.

A substantial portion of our assets is pledged to banks. If we are unable to repay the debt, the lenders could foreclose on our assets that are subject to liens and sell our assets to satisfy the debt.

Marketing our products and services in international markets may require increased expenses and greater exposure to risks that we may not be able to successfully address.

We intend to continue to focus our efforts on selling proprietary software solutions in international markets. We expect to continue devoting significant resources to these efforts. If we are unable to continue achieving market acceptance for our solutions or otherwise continue to successfully penetrate international markets, our business will be harmed. In 2001 and 2002, we received approximately 43% and 45% of our total revenues from customers located outside of Israel. The expansion of our existing operations and entry into additional international markets will require significant management attention and financial resources. We are subject to a number of risks customary for international operations, including:

changing product and service requirements in response to the formation of economic and marketing unions, including the European Economic Union;

economic or political changes in international markets;

greater difficulty in accounts receivable collection and longer collection periods;

unexpected changes in regulatory requirements;

difficulties and costs of staffing and managing foreign operations;

8

the uncertainty of protection for intellectual property rights in some countries;

multiple and possibly overlapping tax structures; and currency and exchange rate fluctuations.

If we grow and fail to address the strain on our resources caused by our growth, we will be unable to effectively manage our business.

Our business has grown in complexity over the past few years. The growth of our business, as well as the corporate organizational changes, have placed and will continue to place a strain on our personnel and resources. Our ability to manage any future growth, if any, depends on our ability to continue to implement and improve our operational, financial and management information control and reporting systems on a timely basis and to expand, train, motivate and manage our work force. If we do not manage our growth, if any, effectively, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

If we are unable to attract, train and retain qualified personnel, we may not be able to achieve our objectives and our business could be harmed.

In order to achieve our objectives, we may need to hire additional qualified software, administrative, operational, sales and technical support personnel. The process of attracting, training and successfully integrating qualified personnel into our operations can be lengthy and expensive. We may not be able to compete effectively for the personnel we need. Our future success depends on our ability to absorb and retain senior employees and to attract, motivate and retain highly qualified professional employees. We expect to recruit most of our software and systems personnel in Israel. In addition, our operations are dependent on the efforts of certain key management. Any loss of members of senior management or key technical personnel, or any failure to attract or retain highly qualified employees as needed, could materially adversely affect our business.

If we are unable to accurately predict and respond to market developments or demands, our business will be adversely affected.

The IT business is characterized by rapidly evolving technology and methodologies. This makes it difficult to predict demand and market acceptance for our services and products. In order to succeed, we need to adapt the products and services we offer to technological developments and changes in customer needs. We cannot guarantee that we will succeed in enhancing our products and services or developing or acquiring new products and services that adequately address changing technologies and customer requirements. We also cannot assure you that the products and services we offer will be accepted by customers. If our products and services are not accepted by customers, our future revenues and profitability will be adversely affected. Changes in technologies, industry standards, the regulatory environment, customer requirements and new product introductions by existing or future competitors could render our existing products and services obsolete and unmarketable, or require us to enhance our current products or develop new products. This may require us to expend significant amounts of money, time and other resources to meet the demand. This could strain our personnel and financial resources.

If we are unable to retain control in our subsidiaries, we would cease to consolidate them and our operating results may fluctuate significantly.

We currently hold a controlling interest in our subsidiaries through our direct equity holdings. From time to time, if and when required, we enter into voting agreements with other shareholders of the companies, in order to retain control of our subsidiaries. As a result of our controlling interests in the subsidiaries, we consolidate their operating results with ours. If we are unable to maintain a controlling interest in our subsidiaries, as a result of equity issuances by subsidiaries, failure to reach voting agreements or otherwise, we would cease to consolidate the operating results of these subsidiaries. This may result in significant fluctuations of our consolidated operating results.

We are exposed to significant claims for damage caused to our customers' information systems.

Some of the products and services we provide involve key aspects of clients' information systems. These systems are frequently critical to our clients' operations. As a result, our clients have a greater sensitivity to failures in these systems than do clients of other software products generally. We have never been the subject of a material damages claim related to our products and services. However, if a client's system fails during or following the provision of products or services by us, or if we fail to provide customers with proper support for our software products, we are exposed to the risk of filing a claim for substantial damages against us, regardless of our responsibility for the failure. We have signed agreements with our customers for the provision of various software services. When possible, we limit our liability under our product and service contracts. We cannot guarantee that these limitations of liability, if any, would be sufficient to protect us against legal claims. We maintain general liability and professional liability insurance coverage. However, we cannot assure you that our insurance coverage will be sufficient to cover one or more large claims, or that the insurer will not disclaim coverage as to any future claim. If we lose one or more, large claims against us that exceed available insurance coverage, our business, operating results and financial condition may be materially adversely affected. In addition, the filing of legal claims against us in connection with contract liability may cause us negative publicity and damage to our reputation.

If third parties assert claims of infringement against us, we may suffer substantial costs and diversion of management's attention.

Substantial litigation over intellectual property rights exists in the software industry. We expect that software products may be increasingly subject to third-party infringement claims as the functionality of products in different industry segments overlaps. We believe that many industry participants have filed or intend to file patent and trademark applications covering aspects of their technology. Although our products and services have never been the subject of an infringement proceeding, we cannot predict whether third parties will assert claims of infringement against us. Any claims, with or without merit, could:

be expensive and time-consuming to defend;

divert management's attention and resources; or require us to enter into royalty or licensing agreements to obtain the right to use a necessary product or component.

Royalty or licensing agreements, if required, may not be available on acceptable terms, if at all. A successful claim of product infringement against us and our failure or inability to license the infringed or similar technology could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We may be unable to adequately protect our proprietary rights, which may limit our ability to compete effectively.

Our success and ability to compete are substantially dependent upon our internally developed technology. Substantially all of our intellectual property consists of proprietary or confidential information that is not subject to patent or similar protection. In general, we have relied on a combination of technical leadership, trade secret, copyright and trademark law and nondisclosure agreements to protect our proprietary know-how. Unauthorized third parties may attempt to copy or obtain and use the technology protected by those rights. Any infringement of our intellectual property could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Policing unauthorized use of our products is difficult and costly, particularly in countries where the laws may not protect our proprietary rights as fully as in the United States. We have placed, and in the future may place, certain of our software in escrow. The software may, under specified circumstances, be made available to our customers. We have provided our software directly to customers. This may increase the likelihood of misappropriation or other misuse of our software.

Two shareholders control a significant portion of our ordinary shares and influence the outcome of matters that require shareholder approval.

Dan Goldstein, our chairman of the board, and his brother, Gad Goldstein, our president and a member of our board, own, in the aggregate, 23.3% of our outstanding ordinary shares. As a result, Dan Goldstein and Gad Goldstein are able to influence significantly the outcome of those matters requiring shareholder approval, including the election of directors and approval of significant corporate transactions. This share ownership may have the effect of delaying or preventing a change in control. In addition, potential conflicts of interest may arise in the event that we enter into agreements or transactions with these persons. Although Israeli law imposes certain procedures (including shareholder approval) for approval of certain related party transactions, we cannot assure you that these procedures will eliminate the possible detrimental effects of these conflicts of interest. If certain transactions are not approved in accordance with required procedures under applicable Israeli law, these transactions may be void or voidable.

For information about a binding memorandum entered in February 2002, between Dan and Gad Goldstein and Iscal Holdings Ltd., see Item 7. Major shareholders and Related Party Transactions.

The market price of our ordinary shares and American Depositary Shares may be volatile and you may not be able to resell your shares at or above the price you paid, or at all.

The stock market in general has recently experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations. The market prices of securities of technology companies have been extremely volatile, and have experienced fluctuations that have often been unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of those companies. These broad market fluctuations could adversely affect the market price of our ordinary shares and American Depositary Shares, or ADSs. The market price of our ordinary shares, for example, fluctuated between NIS 151.30 and NIS 48.11 during 2001. In this period, the market price of our ADSs fluctuated between $38.00 and $11.25. In 2002, the market price of our ordinary shares fluctuated between NIS 75.80 and NIS 40.12. In this period, the market price of our ADSs fluctuated between $16.92 and $8.16. The market price of the ordinary shares and the ADSs may fluctuate substantially due to a variety of factors, including:

- any actual or anticipated fluctuations in our or our competitors' quarterly revenues and operating results;
- shortfalls in our operating results from levels forecast by securities analysts;
- public announcements concerning us or our competitors;
- the introduction or market acceptance of new service offerings by us or our competitors;
- changes in product pricing policies by us or our competitors;
- changes in security analysts' financial estimates;
- changes in accounting principles;
- sales of our shares by existing shareholders; and
- the loss of any of our key personnel.

In addition, economic, political and market conditions and military conflicts and in particular, those specifically related to the State of Israel, may affect the market price of our shares.

We may be adversely affected if the market prices of our publicly traded subsidiaries and affiliates decrease.

A significant portion of our assets is comprised of equity securities of publicly and non-publicly traded companies. Our publicly traded subsidiaries are Crystal Systems Solutions Ltd., Magic Software Enterprises Ltd., Matrix IT Ltd. and Sapiens International Corporation N.V. The stock prices of these publicly traded companies have been extremely volatile, and have experienced fluctuations due to market conditions and other factors which are beyond our control. Fluctuations in the market price and valuations of our holdings in these companies may affect the value of our assets. In addition, the stock prices of many technology companies fluctuate significantly for reasons that may be unrelated to operating results. If the value of our assets decreases significantly as a result of the above, our business, operating results and financial condition, may be materially and adversely affected.

Future sales of our shares in the public market or issuances of additional securities could cause the market price for our ordinary shares and ADSs to fall.

As of June 1, 2003, we had 10,000,000 ordinary shares outstanding, of which 490,662 were represented by ADSs. Of the 10,000,000 shares outstanding, 2,330,534 shares are held by affiliates. In addition, we have reserved 564,500 ordinary shares for issuance under our option plans and options granted to Shandol Ltd. We intend to register for resale these reserved ordinary shares upon issuance. If a large number of our ordinary shares are sold in a short period, the price of our ordinary shares would likely decrease.

We do not intend to pay dividends.

In August 2001, Formula distributed to its shareholders a dividend in kind of Formula Vision s (formerly known as Mashov Computers Ltd.) shares held by Formula, which was distributed in the form of cash to holders of our ADRs. Other than this distribution, Formula has never declared or paid cash dividends on its ordinary shares. We currently intend to retain any future earnings to finance operations and to expand our business and, therefore, do not expect to pay any cash dividends in the foreseeable future.

Our United States investors could suffer adverse tax consequences if we are characterized as a passive foreign investment company.

Although we do not believe that we were a passive foreign investment company for U.S. federal income tax purposes during 2002, we cannot assure you that we will not be treated as a passive foreign investment company in 2003 or in future years. We would be a passive foreign investment company if 75% or more of our gross income in a taxable year is passive income. We would also be a passive foreign investment company if at least 50% of the average value, or possibly the adjusted bases of our assets in particular circumstances, of our assets in a taxable year produce, or are held for the production of, passive income. Passive income includes interest, dividends, royalties, rents and annuities. If we are or become a passive foreign investment company, many of you will be subject to adverse tax consequences, including:

taxation at the highest ordinary income tax rates in effect during your holding period on some distributions on our ordinary shares or ADSs, and on gain from the sale or other disposition of our ordinary shares;

paying interest on taxes allocable to prior periods; and no increase in the tax basis of our ordinary shares to fair market value at the date of your death.

Our operating profit may decrease if the rate of inflation in Israel exceeds the rate of devaluation of the new Israeli shekel against the dollar.

Most of our revenues from sale of our products and services are in dollars or are linked to the dollar, while a substantial portion of our expenses, principally salaries and related personnel expenses, are in new Israeli shekels, or NIS. As a result, we are exposed to the risk that the rate of inflation in Israel exceeds the rate of devaluation of the NIS in relation to the dollar or that the timing of this devaluation lags behind inflation in Israel. This would have the effect of increasing the dollar cost of our operations and decreasing our operating profit. In recent years, the rate of devaluation of the NIS against the dollar has exceeded the rate of inflation, a reversal from prior years. We cannot predict any future trends in the rate of inflation in Israel or the rate of devaluation of the NIS against the dollar. If the dollar cost of our operations in Israel increases, our operating profit will be adversely affected. To date, we have not engaged in significant hedging transactions. In the future, we may enter into currency hedging transactions to decrease the risk of financial exposure from fluctuations in the exchange rate of the dollar against the NIS. However, we cannot assure you that these measures will adequately protect us from adverse effects arising from the impact of inflation in Israel.

Risks Relating to Operations in Israel

Political, economic, and military conditions in Israel could negatively impact our business.

Our headquarters and principal research and development facilities are located in Israel. Although we generate approximately 45% of our revenues from international markets, we are, nonetheless, directly influenced by the political, economic and military conditions affecting Israel. Since September 2000, the violence between Israel and the Palestinians has intensified and a material escalation in the violence has occurred. The future of the peace efforts between Israel and its Arab neighbors is uncertain. Major hostilities involving Israel or the interruption or curtailment of trade between Israel and its present trading partners could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition. Furthermore, several countries restrict business with Israeli companies. In addition, all nonexempt male adult citizens of Israel, including some of our officers and employees, are obligated to perform military reserve duty and are subject to being called for active duty under emergency circumstances. While we have operated effectively under these requirements since our incorporation, we cannot predict the full impact of such conditions on us in the future, particularly if emergency circumstances occur. If many of our employees are called for active duty, our operations in Israel and our business may be adversely affected.

The tax benefits available to us from government programs may be discontinued or reduced at any time, which would likely increase our taxes.

Certain of our subsidiaries received grants in the past and receive tax benefits under Israeli government programs. To maintain the eligibility for these programs and benefits, we must continue to meet specified conditions, including making specified investments in fixed assets. Some of these programs restrict our ability to manufacture particular products or transfer particular technology outside of Israel. If we fail to comply with these conditions in the future, the benefits received could be canceled and we could be required to refund any payments previously received under these programs or pay increased taxes. If these tax benefits and programs are terminated or reduced, we could pay increased taxes in the future, which could decrease our profits.

It may be difficult to serve process and enforce judgments against our directors and officers in Israel.

We are organized under the laws of the State of Israel. All of our executive officers and directors are nonresidents of the United States, and a substantial portion of our assets and the assets of these persons are located outside the United States. Therefore, it may be difficult to enforce a judgment obtained in the United States against us or any of those persons. It may also be difficult to enforce civil liabilities under United States federal securities laws in actions instituted in Israel.

ITEM 4. INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY

We believe that this strategy provides us with capital to support the growth of our subsidiaries, as well as increasing shareholder value. During the second quarter of 1999, nextSource Inc., a former subsidiary of ForSoft in the United States, acquired the IT consulting activities of Mentortech Inc. In April 2000, ForSoft completed an acquisition of a 51% interest in Formula Travel Ltd. (formerly Shaked Computer Systems (1982) Ltd.), which specializes in software solutions for the travel industry. In addition, in April 2000, ForSoft acquired a 51.2% interest in F.I.S. Software Ltd. Acquisitions by Magic. During 1999 and 2000, Magic acquired certain Magic solutions providers, which specialize in developing strategic Magic applications, in North America, Germany, Holland, India and Israel. In addition, during the same period, Magic acquired several of its distributors in Canada, Hungary, India, Thailand and Japan. The aggregate consideration paid by Magic for these acquisitions amounted to approximately $16.1 million in cash and an additional $3.0 million in Magic shares. Of this amount, $4.3 million was paid for the acquisition of I.T.M. In the third quarter of 2000, Magic acquired the entire share capital of CorTech Consulting Group Inc., a U.S. company engaged in IT services and e-business solutions, for consideration of $6.8 million.

Investments by Formula

In March 2001, we completed a $10 million investment in convertible preferred shares of Sapiens International Corporation N.V., or Sapiens, a publicly held company traded on the Nasdaq National Market, representing approximately 24% of the outstanding share capital of Sapiens on an as converted basis. Under the agreement with Sapiens, we were also granted an option to invest up to an additional $10 million on the same terms as our initial investment, subject to certain adjustments. In December 2002, we exercised the option and invested $10 million in Sapiens in exchange for a discount conversion price of $0.83 per common share. As part of the transaction, we converted all of our preferred shares into common shares at the discount price. During 2002 and 2003, we purchased an additional 3,385,600 shares of Sapiens in the open market for aggregate consideration of $3.4 million. As a result, we currently hold 50% of Sapiens' outstanding share capital.

In September 2001, we purchased 37.3% of the outstanding share capital of Liraz Systems Ltd., or Liraz, an international software and services company publicly traded on the TASE. The aggregate consideration we paid for this transaction was $5.6 million. In October 2001, we published a special public tender offer pursuant to which we purchased an additional 6.0% of the outstanding share capital of Liraz for aggregate consideration of $589,000. Following these transactions, we held 50.7% of Liraz's outstanding share capital.

Agreements with Shamrock, FIMI and IDB

In September 1999, we entered into an agreement with Shamrock Holdings of California Inc., or Shamrock, pursuant to which we granted to Shamrock an option, until March 2000, to invest in companies in which we hold, directly or indirectly, at least 25% of the outstanding equity. In addition, we granted to Shamrock an option to exchange the securities it purchased under the above option for Formula's ordinary shares, exercisable within a 45 day period, beginning upon the elapse of 27 months from the date of purchase of the securities or from the date of the agreement, such period to vary based on the securities involved. The exchange ratio was to be based upon the original price paid for the securities subject to the exchange and the market price on the TASE of Formula's ordinary shares at the time of the exchange, subject to certain requisite adjustments. Notwithstanding the above, we had the discretion to purchase the securities to be exchanged for cash instead of exchanging them for Formula's ordinary shares.

In October 1999, we entered into agreements with the First Israel Mezzanine Investors Ltd., or FIMI, and Israel Discount Bank, or IDB, each on the same terms in all material respects as the agreement with Shamrock.

In September 1999, an extraordinary general meeting of Formula's shareholders approved the issuance to Shandol Ltd., one of our former subsidiaries and currently a subsidiary of Formula Vision, of options to purchase 1 million ordinary shares, in order to ensure the availability of ordinary shares, if the above exchange options are exercised. For information regarding the terms of the options, see Item 6.E. Share Ownership.

In August 2000, an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders approved the grant of additional options to Shandol to purchase 500,000 ordinary shares, to ensure the availability of ordinary shares for different purposes while conducting various transactions, including the availability of ordinary shares, if the above exchange options are exercised. For information regarding the terms of the options, see Item 6.E. Share Ownership.

In November 2001 and January 2002, Shamrock exercised the exchange option with respect to its investment in certain companies of the Formula Group. In consideration for the securities held by Shamrock, Shandol transferred to Shamrock 1,000,000 of our ordinary shares and an aggregate of approximately $1.6 million. In January 2002, Shamrock sold these shares to Dan and Gad Goldstein. See Item 7. Major Shareholders and Related Party Transactions.

In April 2002, FIMI and IDB exercised the exchange option with respect to their investment in certain companies of the Formula Group in an aggregate amount of $4.7 million (including accrued interest). In connection therewith, we entered into an agreement with FIMI and IDB, pursuant to which we exchanged the amount of $4.7 million with a convertible debenture issued by Formula. The convertible debenture may be converted into Formula's ordinary shares during a 4-year period. The conversion price shall be $19 per share, subject to adjustments, but in no event less than a minimum price agreed to between the parties. The principal of the convertible debenture shall be payable in semi-annual installments beginning 30 months from the date of issuance of the debenture, unless FIMI and IDB request to postpone this date until the end of the 4-year period. The principal bears interest at an annual rate of 5% to be paid quarterly.

In connection with the exercise of the option by Shamrock, we agreed to extend the term of the option to exchange the securities held by Shamrock in ESI Expert Systems Industries Ltd., or ESI, and Sintec Advanced Technologies Ltd., or Sintec, for Formula's ordinary shares. We also agreed to extend the term of the option granted to FIMI and IDB to exchange the securities held by them in ESI, Transtech Control Ltd. and Sintec, for Formula's ordinary shares. The options granted to Shamrock, FIMI and IDB with respect to Sintec's shares have been replaced in November 2002 by options relating to Matrix shares, as described under Restructuring of Our Corporate Structure - Sale of New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan to Matrix, below.

As part of the agreement between us and Formula Vision described below, we transferred to Formula Vision our rights and obligations with respect to the transferred companies under our agreements with each of Shamrock, FIMI and IDB. These companies are ESI and Transtech. If Shamrock, FIMI or IDB exercises the option to exchange these securities in the transferred companies for Formula's shares and to the extent exercised, Formula Vision assumed all the rights and undertakings in connection with the exercise of the option.

Restructuring of Our Corporate Structure

In 1999, we commenced a restructuring process, which continued through 2002, to simplify our corporate structure and business environment by combining some smaller subsidiaries to create a smaller number of larger subsidiaries with greater operating efficiencies. Prior to commencement of the restructuring process, we held, directly and through holding companies, subsidiaries comprised of publicly traded companies, as well as early-stage privately-held companies. After completion of the restructuring process, we hold a direct interest in five later-stage publicly-traded companies with independent active management. The purpose of the restructuring process was to enable us to focus on later-stage companies, in which our management would be able to contribute a high added value, which will enable us to maximize these companies' potential. As part of this process, we took the following steps:

In November 2000, we completed a public tender offer of the ordinary shares of ForSoft Ltd., or ForSoft, pursuant to which we purchased all of the ordinary shares of ForSoft held by the public for an aggregate of $38.0 million. Following the completion of the tender offer, ForSoft's shares ceased to be traded on the Nasdaq National Market.

In December 2000 and July 2001, we acquired convertible notes of Thoughtbubble Productions Inc. for aggregate consideration of $4.35 million. In December 2001, we transferred to New Applicom Ltd., our rights under the convertible notes of Thoughtbubble.

In January 2001, we completed a public tender offer to purchase the ordinary shares of Formula Vision held by the public. The aggregate consideration we paid for the tendered shares was $11.6 million. Following this tender offer we increased our holdings in Formula Vision to 74.5% of Formula Vision's outstanding share capital.

In January 2001, Formula Vision (at that time, a subsidiary of Formula) completed a purchase of 84.6% of the outstanding share capital of Sivan Training and Systems Ltd. (formerly Makor Haformaika Ltd.), or Sivan, a public company traded on the TASE, for aggregate consideration of $13.6 million. As part of this transaction, Formula Vision sold its entire share ownership in Mentortech Inc., representing approximately 99.5% of the share capital of Mentortech, to Sivan, for aggregate consideration of $12 million.

In March 2001, Formula Vision distributed to its shareholders a dividend in kind of its major assets, consisting of securities of Magic Software Enterprises Ltd., or Magic, and Sivan. As a result, we received 6,700,315 ordinary shares of Magic, representing a 22.7% interest in Magic, and 8,144,604 ordinary shares of Sivan, representing a 63.0% interest in Sivan.

During May until July 2001, we purchased from ForSoft and from one of its subsidiaries their entire interest in several providers of software solutions for niche markets, Forsoft Export (1999) Ltd., nextSource Inc. (formerly known as Forsoft Inc.), Formula Retail Solutions Ltd., F.T.S. Formula Telecom Solutions Ltd., F.I.S. Software Ltd. and N.I.P. Nikuv International Projects Ltd. We paid an aggregate of $18.3 million for these acquisitions.

In July 2001, Formula announced a distribution of a dividend in kind to its shareholders, consisting of Formula Vision's shares held by Formula, and representing approximately 72% of the outstanding share capital of Formula Vision. The distribution of Formula Vision's shares was completed in August 2001.

In July 2001, Formula granted to Formula Vision an option to purchase our interests in certain privately-held companies that develop products and services aimed primarily for sale in international markets. The spin-off of Formula Vision's shares and the grant of the option were aimed to simplify the corporate structure of the Formula Group and to enable Formula's shareholders to separately hold interests in publicly-traded companies through the holding of Formula shares, and in smaller, privately-held companies, through the holding of Formula Vision's shares.

Transactions with Formula Vision. In November 2001, Formula Vision exercised the option granted by Formula in July 2001, to acquire the entire interest held by us in privately held companies. Under this transaction, we transferred to Formula Vision our entire interest, including related obligations, in the following companies: 50.1% interest in F.I.S. Software Ltd., 78.0% interest in Formula Retail Solutions Ltd., 50.1% interest in F.T.S. Formula Telecom Solutions Ltd., 72.0% interest in N.I.P. Nikuv International Projects Ltd., 36.0% interest in Enformia Software Ltd., 1.0% interest in Babylon Ltd., 0.85% interest in Demantra Ltd., 100.0% interest in Forsoft Export (1999) Ltd., 80.3% interest in Airport Systems Technologies Ltd., 68.0% interest in Transtech Control Ltd., 50.0% interest in ESI Expert Systems Industries Ltd., 34.0% interest in GeoSim Systems Ltd., 100.0% interest in Shandol Ltd., our interest in the first and second venture capital funds, Formula Ventures and our 100.0% interest in the funds' management company, Formula Ventures Ltd. The aggregate consideration paid by Formula Vision was $58.9 million, reflecting the book value of the transferred companies as of June 30, 2001, plus amounts invested by Formula prior to the closing of the transaction.

Under the agreement with Formula Vision, Formula Vision issued to us, in December 2001, a series of debentures of $58.9 million in the aggregate, linked to the CPI and bearing interest at an annual rate of 5%. Formula Vision is required to repay the debentures in five annual installments, subject to adjustments based on the income of Formula Vision during each of the five years. The payments on account of the debentures plus linkage differences will be no less than 30% and no more than 70% of the income arising from the sale of the transferred companies in any calendar year. Income for these purposes is defined as the amounts received by Formula Vision, if any, in consideration for a sale of any of the transferred companies in any given calendar year, less selling expenses, as well as amounts received by Formula Vision from distributions to be made by any of the transferred companies in any given calendar year. Payments to be made on account of the debentures, in any given calendar year, shall be no less than 20% of the annual profit as recorded in the financial statements of Formula Vision. Any amounts which remain outstanding will be payable at the end of the 5-year period. In connection with this transaction, we lent to Formula Vision on March 31, 2002 an additional $19.4 million and Formula Vision issued to us an additional series of debentures for this amount, with similar terms as the debentures issued in December 2001.

In the event that during the term of the indebtedness, Formula Vision issues to a third party convertible debentures, Formula is entitled to convert the indebtedness into the same class of convertible debentures, having the same terms of the convertible debentures issued to the third party.

In addition, Formula is entitled, during a 3-year period, to repurchase from Formula Vision up to 10% of the shares sold in each of the transferred companies, at the same purchase price set out in the agreement between the parties.

As part of the agreement between us and Formula Vision, we also transferred to Formula Vision our rights and obligations with respect to the transferred companies under our agreements with each of Shamrock, FIMI and IDB. These companies are ESI and Transtech. If either of Shamrock, FIMI or IDB exercises the option to exchange the securities in these transferred companies for Formula's shares and to the extent exercised, Formula Vision assumed all the rights and undertakings in connection with the exercise of the option.

In December 2001, we completed a purchase of 85% of the outstanding share capital of Matrix IT Ltd., or Matrix, a company publicly traded on the TASE. As consideration, Formula transferred to Matrix, Formula's entire share ownership in ForSoft. As part of this transaction, Matrix's principal shareholders acquired substantially all of the assets of Matrix, such that upon the closing of the transaction, Matrix's assets consisted solely of cash and cash equivalents in the amount of $8 million. As a result, following the closing of the transaction, the activities of ForSoft became the entire operations of Matrix. In connection with this transaction, Formula agreed to guarantee a loan in the amount of $8.34 million extended by a commercial bank to the principal shareholders of Matrix. In addition, the borrowers pledged to the bank the shares they hold in Matrix. During the three-year loan period, the borrowers are prohibited from selling Matrix's shares to their affiliated parties. Formula undertook to pay to the bank at the termination of the loan period, the difference, if any, between the loan amount and the sale proceeds of the pledged Matrix shares.

Sale of Liraz to Crystal. In November 2002, we sold to Crystal, in a share exchange transaction, 3,912,999 ordinary shares of Liraz, representing our entire 57.9% interest in Liraz. In consideration, Crystal issued to us 2,343,113 Crystal ordinary shares. The number of shares issued to us by Crystal was calculated based on an exchange ratio of 1:1.67, such that Crystal issued to us one Crystal share for every 1.67 shares of Liraz. As part of this transaction, Crystal purchased from certain additional shareholders of Liraz an aggregate of 1,896,303 Liraz ordinary shares for Crystal shares, based on the same exchange ratio as in the transaction between Crystal and us. As a result, Crystal owned approximately 86.0% of the outstanding share capital of Liraz. Following this transaction, Crystal purchased from the public all the remaining outstanding shares of Liraz through two public tender offerings. In March 2003, Liraz shares ceased to be traded on the TASE.

Sale of New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan to Matrix. In November 2002, we completed a sale to Matrix IT Ltd. of our entire shareholdings in New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan, publicly-held companies traded on the TASE, for aggregate consideration of $29.7 million. In this transaction, we sold to Matrix 3,870,498 shares of New Applicom, representing approximately 60.8% of New Applicom's outstanding share capital, for an aggregate of $16.9 million, 15,330,309 shares of Sintec, representing Sintec's entire outstanding share capital, for an aggregate of $12.5 million, and 8,930,100 shares of Sivan, representing approximately 69.0% of Sivan's outstanding share capital, for an aggregate of $346,000. The shares we sold to Matrix were comprised of (i) shares previously held by us; (ii) shares that we purchased from third parties in October 2002; and (iii) shares that we bought in tender offers we published in October 2002. The price per share paid to us by Matrix for each of New Applicom's, Sintec's and Sivan's shares previously held by us and those we purchased from third parties was equal to the equity per share of each of the companies.

The shares that we purchased from third parties in October 2002 and sold to Matrix were bought in the following transactions:

(i) 552,789 shares of New Applicom that we purchased in exchange for 1,436,096 shares of Matrix. As part of this transaction, we granted to the selling shareholders a put option to sell to us Matrix's shares during the fourth quarter of 2003 for cash at an exercise price based on the cost of New Applicom's sold shares;

(ii) an aggregate of 4,200,000 shares of Sintec that we purchased in exchange for 2,180,780 shares of Matrix. As part of this transaction, we granted to the selling shareholders a put option to sell to us Matrix shares during the fourth quarter of 2003 and the first quarter of 2004 at a cash price based on the cost of Sintec's sold shares. Such option was previously granted to the selling shareholders in 1999 with respect to Sintec's sold shares; and

(iii) an aggregate of 1,100,000 shares of Sintec that we purchased in exchange for 608,080 shares of Matrix. As part of this transaction, we granted to the selling shareholders a put option to sell to us Matrix shares during November 2003 for cash.

As part of the sale transaction, we published in October 2002, cash tender offers for the shares of New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan not owned by us. As a result, Sintec's shares ceased to be traded on the TASE. Following the closing of the tender offers, we sold to Matrix the shares that we purchased in the tender offers for the same purchase price we paid for the tendered shares; $3.7 for each New Applicom share, $0.8 for each Sintec share and $0.15 for each Sivan share. In November 2002, Matrix published tender offers for the shares of New Applicom and Sivan held by the public. In June 2003, Matrix published an additional tender offer to purchase the shares of New Applicom, in which Matrix purchased the remaining outstanding share capital of New Applicom held by the public. Matrix currently holds the entire share capital of New Applicom and approximately 90% interest in Sivan.

Sales and Marketing

Our subsidiaries conduct sales and marketing efforts primarily through division or product managers. In certain cases, the companies devote sales managers who, aided by their staffs, are responsible for ongoing customer relationships, as well as sales to new customers. In addition, the IT services companies participate in competitive bidding processes, primarily for turnkey and government projects, as well as large IT services contracts. Our subsidiaries attend trade shows and exhibitions in the high technology markets, while further supplementing their sales efforts with space advertising and products and services listing in appropriate directories. In addition, our subsidiaries organize user group meetings for their customers, where new products and services are highlighted. We typically enter into strategic alliances and intend to pursue acquisitions in order to penetrate various international markets and promote sales of our proprietary software solutions in international markets.

Competition

The markets for the IT products and services we offer are rapidly evolving and highly competitive. Our ability to compete successfully in IT services markets depends on a number of factors, like breadth of service offerings, sales and marketing efforts, service, pricing, and quality and reliability of services. The principal competitive factors affecting the market for the proprietary software solutions include product performance and reliability, product functionality, availability of experienced personnel and price, ability to respond in a timely manner to changing customer needs, ease of use, training and quality of support. We face competition, both in Israel and internationally, from a variety of companies, including companies with significantly greater resources than us who are likely to enjoy substantial competitive advantages, including:

longer operating histories;

greater financial, technical, marketing and other resources;

greater name recognition;

well-established relationships with our current and potential clients; and

a broader range of products and services.

As a result, they may be able to respond more quickly to new or emerging technologies or changes in customer requirements. They may also benefit from greater purchasing economies, offer more aggressive product and service pricing or devote greater resources to the promotion of their products and services. In addition, in the future, we may face further competition from new market entrants and possible alliances between existing competitors. We also face additional competition as we continue to penetrate international markets. As a result, we cannot assure you that the products and solutions we offer will compete successfully with those of our competitors. Furthermore, several software development centers worldwide, like in India, offer software development services at much lower prices than we do. Due to the intense competition in the markets in which we operate, software products prices may fluctuate significantly. As a result, we may have to reduce the prices of our products.

Our principal competitors in the domestic Israeli market are Israeli IT services companies and systems integrators, the largest of which are Ness Technologies Inc. and Zeevi Computers Group. Our international competitors in the Israeli marketplace include Compaq, EDS, IBM and Microsoft. These international competitors often use local subcontractors to provide personnel for contracts performed in Israel.

Our competitors in international markets include the following:

Magic's principal competitors in the market of the eDeveloper technology are Visual Basic (Microsoft), Progress, Delphi and Jbuilder (Borland), Oracle, Compuware, Lansa and packaged applications like SAP, and PeopleSoft which could hinder projects. The principal competitors in the market for the iBOLT Integration Suite are Seeburger, Microsoft BizTalk, Axway and Mercator.

Crystal's principal competitors include leading software developers, who enable customers to replace or modernize their legacy systems, such as IBM, Micro Focus, Software Technologies, and ASG (Allen Systems Group). In addition, Crystal faces competition from companies operating in the four principal areas of the enterprise IT modernization market: enterprise IT understanding, enterprise IT migration, enterprise IT transformation and enterprise IT development. Most of Crystal's principal competitors tend to offer solutions only for selected segments, while Crystal's solutions cover all four areas. Its principal competitors consist of system integrators and tool vendors. System integrators include IBM, Cap Gemini E&Y and EDS. Crystal cooperates with some of these system integrators in providing certain solutions. Crystal's competitors for the infrastructure modernization tools include DMR/Amdahl, Oracle Corporation and Sun Microsystems Inc. The principal direct competitor for Crystal's Windows to Unix cross-platform products is Bristol Technology, Inc., which is a source code licensee of an earlier version of Windows-NT. Citrix Systems Inc. is one of the principal indirect competitors, and is also a Microsoft source code licensee. Indirect competitors also include internal product development groups within current and potential customers.

Sapiens' principal competitors in the application development and e-commerce marketplaces include tool vendors and system integrators. RAD tool vendors competing with Sapiens include Versata, Software AG, HNC (Blaze), ARTEch (GeneXus), and Lansa. Consultants and system integrators that offer competing solutions include IBM, EDS, Cap Gemini, Computer Associates International, Andersen Consulting, and KPMG. Sapiens' competitors in the legacy evolution marketplaces include tool vendors and system integrators. Tool vendors include SAGA Systems, Seagull, Neon, Relativity, Merant, SEEC, Most, Intercomp and IBM. Web consultants and system integrators that offer competing solutions include IBM, Cap Gemini, Xpedior, Sapient, Cambridge Technology Partners, Computer Associates International, Andersen Consulting, USWeb/CKS and EDS.

Software Development

The software industry is characterized by rapid technological developments. In order to maintain technological leadership, we engage in ongoing software development activity through our subsidiaries, aimed at both creating new proprietary software and services, as well as enhancing and customizing existing products and services. This effort includes introducing new supported programming languages and database management systems; improving functionality and flexibility and enhancing ease of use. We work closely with current and potential end-users, our strategic partners and leaders in certain industry segments to identify market needs and define appropriate product enhancements and specifications.

Intellectual Property Rights

Neither we nor our subsidiaries have any patents. However, certain of our subsidiaries have patent applications pending.

We rely on a combination of trade secret, copyright and trademark laws and non-disclosure agreements, to protect our proprietary know-how. Our proprietary technology incorporates processes, methods, algorithms and software that we believe are not easily copied. Despite these precautions, it may be possible for unauthorized third parties to copy aspects of our products or to obtain and use information that we regard as proprietary. We believe that, because of the rapid pace of technological change in the industry, patent and copyright protection are less significant to our competitive position than factors such as the knowledge, ability and experience of our personnel, new product development and ongoing product maintenance and support.

C. Organizational Structure

Dan and Gad Goldstein are co-founders, directors and shareholders of Formula. They are also directors and shareholders of several other companies which, together with us and the other subsidiaries, are known as the Formula Group. Formula is the parent company of the Formula Group.

We lease approximately 70,000 square feet of office space in Herzlia, pursuant to a lease which will expire on October 31, 2005 with an option to extend for an additional 36 months.

We lease an additional aggregate 75,000 square feet of office space in another building in Herzlia pursuant to leases ending between December 2003 and June 2004, with an option to extend for an additional 30 to 35 months. We are currently negotiating the extension of the lease.

We own a 34,000 square feet facility in Or-Yehuda, Israel.

Several of our subsidiaries lease approximately 120,000 square feet of office space and warehouses in several other locations in Israel. Several of our subsidiaries also lease sales and support premises in the United States, Europe and Asia.

The aggregate amount we paid pursuant to our lease agreements in 2002 was approximately $7.4 million.

ITEM 5. OPERATING AND FINANCIAL REVIEW AND PROSPECTS

Overview

We design, develop and implement innovative business-critical information technology solutions. We also design, develop and market proprietary software solutions for sale in selected niche markets worldwide.

We recognize revenues in two categories: the delivery of software services and the delivery of proprietary software solutions. All of our subsidiaries, including IT services companies and proprietary software solutions companies, recognize revenues from the delivery of software services, and most of them recognize revenues in both revenue categories. We have separated our subsidiaries into these categories in accordance with the category in which each subsidiary has earned most of its revenues. For information with respect to the accounting principles we use in revenue recognition, see Note 1K to our consolidated financial statements.

We recognize, in non-operating income, gains and losses arising from the sale of previously un-issued capital stock by a subsidiary or an affiliate to outside investors, if the sale changes our ownership percentage in this entity. We measure the gain or loss by the difference between our share in the proceeds from this stock offering and the carrying amount, on an equity basis, of the proportionate reduction in our investment. Transactions of this nature do not occur on a regular basis and it is difficult for us to predict their timing.

We currently hold a controlling interest in our subsidiaries through our direct equity holdings. From time to time, if and when required, we enter into voting agreements with other shareholders of the companies, in order to retain control of our subsidiaries. As a result of our controlling interests in the subsidiaries, we consolidate the operating results of these subsidiaries. If we are unable to maintain a controlling interest in our subsidiaries, as a result of equity issuances by subsidiaries or otherwise, we cease to consolidate their operating results. This could cause significant fluctuations of our consolidated operating results. As a result, we believe that period-to-period comparisons of our results of operations are not necessarily meaningful and you should not rely on these comparisons as indications of our future performance.

On December 31, 2001, we sold to Formula Vision our entire shareholdings in several of our private companies. As a result, we have not consolidated these companies in our balance sheet as of December 31, 2001. Beginning with the first quarter of 2002, we ceased consolidating their result of operations. This has influenced our results of operations in 2002, and among others, our revenues, cost of revenues, software development costs and selling, general and administrative expenses have been decreased.

Beginning with the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002, we prepare our consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, referred to as U.S. GAAP. Under U.S.GAAP, we cannot use adjusted NIS reflecting changes in the Israeli consumer price index, as we have used in the past. Instead, we use nominal values of the NIS translated into dollars as described below. As a result, we have restated certain figures in our financial statements relating to prior periods.

Our functional and reporting currency

Formula and most of our subsidiaries operate primarily in the economic environment of the New Israeli Shekel (NIS). The functional currency of our other subsidiaries is the dollar. We use the dollar as our reporting currency.

We translate our financial statements into dollars, as well as the financial statements of our subsidiaries whose functional currency is the NIS, under the principles described in Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 52. Assets and liabilities have been translated at period-end exchange rates. Results of operations have been translated at the exchange rate at the dates on which those transactions occurred or at an average rate. We present material differences resulting from translation under shareholder's equity in the item accumulating other comprehensive income (loss). If gains and losses arising from these translations are immaterial, we record them as financial expenses included in the statements of income. In the consolidation, we present the financial statements of subsidiaries whose functional currency is the dollar, at the original amounts.

Critical Accounting Policies

In preparation of our financial statements, we are required to make certain estimates, judgments and assumptions that we believe are reasonable based upon the information available. These estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the periods presented. The significant accounting policies which we believe are the most critical to aid in fully understanding and evaluating our reported financial results include the following:

Revenue Recognition

The revenue recognition policy of each of our significant subsidiaries is material because our revenue is a key component of our results of operations. Our revenue recognition determines the timing of certain expenses, such as commissions and royalties. We follow very specific and detailed guidelines in measuring revenue; however, certain judgments affect the application of our revenue policy. Revenue results are difficult to predict and any shortfall in revenue or delay in recognizing revenue could cause our operating results to vary significantly from quarter to quarter and could result in future operating losses.

Revenues derived from direct software license agreements are recognized in accordance with Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2 Software Revenue Recognition (as amended by SOP 98-4 and SOP 98-9), upon delivery of the software when collection is probable, the license fee is otherwise fixed or determinable and persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists. When a project involves significant modification of software, revenue is generally recognized according to the percentage of completion method. Under this method, estimated revenue is generally accrued based on costs incurred to date as a percentage of total updated estimated costs.

We recognize revenues from projects billed on a time and material basis, based on SOP 81-1 Accounting for Performance of Construction - Type and Certain Production - Type Contracts, using contract accounting on a percentage of completion method, based on the relationship of actual costs incurred to total costs estimated to be incurred over the duration of the contract. Provision for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts is made in the period in which such losses are first determined, in the amount of the estimated loss on the entire contract. As of December 31, 2002, no such estimated losses were identified.

We recognize revenues from consulting fees with respect to fixed fee contracts, based upon the percentage of completion method. We recognize contract losses, if any, in the period in which they first become evident.

Revenues from contractual maintenance contract and training are recognized ratably over the contract period.

Revenues from sales of hardware are recognized when the merchandise is delivered to the customer, provided no significant vendor obligations remain.

Our management believes that our revenue recognition policies are in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Commission Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 101, Revenue Recognition in Financial Statements (SAB 101).

Impairment of Goodwill

We periodically evaluate acquired businesses for potential impairment indicators. Our judgments regarding the existence of impairment indicators are based on legal factors, market conditions and operational performance of our acquired businesses. Future events could cause us to conclude that impairment indicators exist and that goodwill associated with our acquired businesses is impaired. Any resulting impairment loss could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Debentures

One of our assets is comprised of debentures issued to us by Formula Vision in connection with the sale of private companies held by us to Formula Vision. We evaluate, periodically, the quality of the indebtedness, the financial strength of Formula Vision and its ability to meet the repayment schedule of the loan. However, in the event that Formula Vision fails to repay the loan under the terms of the debentures, our business, financial condition and results of operations would be materially adversely affected.

A. Operating Results

Revenues. Revenues decreased from $387.7 million in 2001 to $283.3 million in 2002. The decrease in revenues was mainly attributable to the sale to Formula Vision of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries at the end of 2001. In addition, in 2002, we had a slight decrease in demand for our products and services. Revenues from the two categories of our operation were as follows: Revenues from the delivery of software services decreased from $208.9 million in 2001 to $171.3 million in 2002. Revenues from the sale of proprietary software solutions decreased from $178.7 million in 2001 to $112.0 million in 2002.

Cost of Revenues. Cost of revenues consists primarily of wages and related expenses and hardware and other materials costs. Cost of revenues decreased 28% from $261.3 million in 2001 to $186.9 million in 2002. As a percentage of revenues, cost of revenues remained relatively the same in 2002 and 2001. The decrease in cost of revenues was primarily due to the sale of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries to Formula Vision at the end of 2001.

Software Development Costs, net. Software development costs consist primarily of wages and related expenses and, to a lesser degree, consulting fees we pay to independent contractors engaged in research and development. Software development costs, net, consist of software development costs, gross, less capitalized software costs. The decrease in software development costs was attributed primarily to the sale to Formula Vision, at the end of 2001, of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries characterized by substantial research and development activities. Amortization of capitalized software costs were $5.1 million in 2002 and $6.6 million in 2001, which amounts were included in cost of revenues.

Selling, general and administrative expenses decreased from $151.3 million in 2001 to $85.3 million in 2002. As a percentage of revenues, selling, general and administrative expenses decreased from 39% in 2001 to 30% in 2002. This decrease was primarily attributable to the efforts of our subsidiaries to reduce their operating expenses, the sale of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries to Formula Vision and cessation of amortization of goodwill in 2002.

Restructuring Costs. Restructuring costs consist primarily of wages and relocation expenses, as well expenses related to closing of branches. Restructuring costs were $11.0 million in 2001 and $1.8 million in 2002. Restructuring costs in 2002 reflect primarily Magic's restructuring costs.

Operating Loss. In 2002, we had operating loss of $6.7 million compared to operating loss of $57.3 million in 2001. The operating loss in 2002 is attributable to the operating loss of certain of our subsidiaries which were harmed by the global and local slow-down. The operating loss in 2001 is attributable to the operating loss of certain of our subsidiaries, like Magic, Crystal and Sintec which were harmed by the global and local slow-down, as well as to losses incurred by some of our privately-held subsidiaries which concentrate in research and development of products aimed for sale in the international markets. These privately-held subsidiaries were sold at the end of 2001 to Formula Vision.

Financial Income, net. Financial income, net in 2002 was $3.6 million compared to $2.7 million in 2001. Gain on Realization of Shareholdings. Gain on realization of shareholdings in 2002 was $4.7 million compared to $773,000 in 2001. Gain on realization of shareholdings in 2002 was attributable to the sale of Level 8 shares by Crystal which resulted in gain of $5.5 million to Crystal. Gain on realization of shareholdings in 2001 was attributable to gains recorded by our subsidiaries.

Taxes on Income. Taxes on income in 2002 were $2.0 million compared to $6.2 million in 2001. Our effective tax rate relates to a portion of our earnings that we derive from capital gains. These capital gains are partly offset by other capital gains that are tax exempt, as well as by a portion of earnings derived from operations that are tax exempt under the Law of Encouragement of Capital Investments, 1959. Taxes on income are also attributable to certain of our subsidiaries that had taxable income.

Company's Equity in Results of Affiliates, net. Our equity in losses of affiliates, net were $2.3 million in 2002 compared to $9.9 million in 2001. This decrease stems from the sale of subsidiaries' affiliates and affiliates of Formula to Formula Vision as part of our restructuring process.

Minority interest in losses of subsidiaries in 2002 was $2.4 million compared to minority interest in losses of subsidiaries of $46.9 million in 2001. Revenues. In 2001, revenues were $387.7 million compared to $402.5 million in 2000. In 2001, we had a slight decrease in our revenues as a result of a decrease in demand for our products and services. This decrease was offset by the consolidation of the results of operations of Liraz in the fourth quarter of 2001. Revenues from the two categories of our operation were as follows: Revenues from the delivery of software services were $208.9 million in 2001 and $213.7 million in 2000. Gain on realization of shareholdings in 2001 was attributable to gains recognized by our subsidiaries. Gain on realization of shareholdings in 2000 was primarily attributable to the sale of Magic shares by us in the public offering of Magic and the decrease in our shareholdings in Magic. This sale resulted in gain to us of $25.8 million, as well as other gains incurred by our subsidiaries, particularly by Formula Vision, which recognized approximately $26.9 million of capital gains in 2000. Of these capital gains, Formula Vision derived $21.5 million from the decrease in its shareholdings in Magic and $6.4 million from the decrease in its shareholdings in Walla.

Impact of Inflation and Currency Fluctuations on Results of Operations

Most of our revenues from sale of our products and services are in dollars or are linked to the dollar, while a substantial portion of our expenses, principally salaries and related personnel expenses, are in new Israeli shekels, or NIS. As a result, we are exposed to the risk that the rate of inflation in Israel exceeds the rate of devaluation of the NIS in relation to the dollar or that the timing of this devaluation lags behind inflation in Israel. This would have the effect of increasing the dollar cost of our operations and decreasing our operating profit. In recent years, the rate of devaluation of the NIS against the dollar has exceeded the rate of inflation, a reversal from prior years. We cannot predict any future trends in the rate of inflation in Israel or the rate of devaluation of the NIS against the dollar. If the dollar cost of our operations in Israel increases, our operating profit will be adversely affected. To date, we have not engaged in significant hedging transactions. In the future, we may enter into currency hedging transactions to decrease the risk of financial exposure from fluctuations in the exchange rate of the dollar against the NIS. However, we cannot assure you that these measures will adequately protect us from adverse effects arising from the impact of inflation in Israel.

Political, Economic and Military Conditions in Israel

Our headquarters and principal research and development facilities are located in Israel. Although we generate approximately 45% of our revenues from international markets, we are, nonetheless, directly influenced by the political, economic and military conditions affecting Israel. Since September 2000, the violence between Israel and the Palestinians has intensified and a material escalation in the violence has occurred. The future of the peace efforts between Israel and its Arab neighbors is uncertain. Major hostilities involving Israel or the interruption or curtailment of trade between Israel and its present trading partners could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition. Furthermore, several countries restrict business with Israeli companies. In addition, all nonexempt male adult citizens of Israel, including some of our officers and employees, are obligated to perform military reserve duty and are subject to being called for active duty under emergency circumstances. While we have operated effectively under these requirements since our incorporation, we cannot predict the full impact of such conditions on us in the future, particularly if emergency circumstances occur. If many of our employees are called for active duty, our operations in Israel and our business may be adversely affected.

B. Liquidity and Capital Resources

Since inception, we have financed our growth and business primarily through cash provided by operations and through public offerings, as well as through private and public equity offerings of our subsidiaries. Related Party Transactions

During 2001 and 2002, we conducted certain transactions as part of our restructuring process to simplify our corporate structure and business environment included combining some smaller subsidiaries to create a small number of larger subsidiaries with greater operating efficiencies. The purpose of the restructuring process was to enable us to focus on later-stage companies, in which our management can contribute a high added value which will enable us to maximize these companies' potential. For additional information about these transactions, see Item 7.B. Related Party Transactions and Item 4.A. History and Development of the Company - Capital Expenditures and Divestitures.

In November 2001, we sold to Formula Vision our interest in certain of our privately held subsidiaries. The consideration was calculated based on the book value of the transferred companies as of June 30, 2001, plus amounts invested by Formula prior to the closing of the transaction, which we believe reflects the fair value of the companies.

In November 2002, we sold to Matrix our entire shareholdings in New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan. The purpose of the transaction was to create the largest information technology company in Israel, providing Matrix with critical mass, operating efficiencies, and a more unified corporate structure. The price per share paid to us by Matrix for each of New Applicom's, Sintec's and Sivan's shares previously held by us and those purchased from third parties was equal to the equity per share of each of the companies. The price per share paid to us by Matrix for the shares purchased in the tender offers was equal to the purchase price we paid for them in the tender offers.

In November 2002, we sold to Crystal, in a share exchange transaction, our 57.9% interest in Liraz. In consideration for our holdings in Liraz, Crystal issued to us Crystal ordinary shares representing 9.0% of Crystal outstanding share capital. The exchange ratio was set at 1:1.67, which we believe reflects a fair ratio between the values of the two companies.

Effective Corporate Tax Rates in Israel

Certain of the companies in the Formula Group have been granted approved enterprise status under the Investment Law. Accordingly, if these companies comply with certain requirements, they are eligible for certain tax benefits for the first seven years in which they generate taxable income. Income derived from these companies' approved enterprise programs will be tax exempt for a period of two years after the companies have taxable income. They will also be subject to a 25% company tax rate for the following five years. Under certain circumstances, if the percentage of the share capital that foreign shareholders hold in subsidiaries and affiliates of these companies exceeds 25%, future approved enterprises of the applicable subsidiary or affiliate would qualify for reduced tax rates for an additional three years, after the seven years mentioned above. We cannot assure you that these companies will obtain approval for additional approved enterprises, that the provisions of the Investment Law will not change, or that the above-mentioned shareholding portion will be reached or maintained for each subsequent year. In addition, our equity in affiliated companies' net income is not subject to tax in Israel. Gains from changes in holdings in subsidiaries and affiliated companies resulting from issuances to third parties are also not taxable in Israel. These exemptions cause our effective tax rate to fluctuate from period to period. As a result of the approved enterprise status of certain of our subsidiaries, we received tax benefits of $2.5 million in 2000, $1.9 million in 2001 and $228,000 in 2002.

On January 1, 2003, Israel's tax laws had undergone a significant tax reform (Amendment 132 to the Income Tax Ordinance (New Version) - 1961), referred to as the new law. The underlying principle of the new law is to broaden the categories of taxable income, and reduce the tax rates imposed on employment income.

C. Research and Development, Patents and Licenses

In 2002, we spent on research and development activities $16 million, in 2001 we spent $21.3 million and in 2000 we spent $20.5 million. The decrease in the amount spent on research and development activities in 2002 compared to 2001, relates primarily to the sale to Formula Vision at the end of 2001, of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries characterized by substantial research and development activities. For a description of our research and development activities, see Item 4.B. Business Overview-Software Development.

For information concerning our intellectual property rights, see Item 4.B. Business Overview-Intellectual Property Rights.

D. Trend Information

We have been affected by global economic changes, in particular the recent sharp decline in capital spending in the information technology sector and the overall business slow-down in North America and Europe, as well as in Israel. As a result of these global trends, our subsidiaries Magic, Crystal and New Applicom posted in 2001, restructuring charges of $6.6 million, $2.8 million and $1.5 million, related primarily to severance costs for employees, relocation expenses and expenses related to closing of branches. In addition, Magic wrote off goodwill of $22.0 million with respect to certain investments, Applicom wrote-off goodwill of $5.0 million with respect to its investments in Net Quotient Consulting Group Inc. and Xtivia Technologies Inc., Crystal wrote off goodwill of $4.0 million and Formula wrote off $4.8 million with respect to its investment in Thoughtbubble. In 2002, we continued to be affected by the slow down in the markets in which we operate. This resulted in a slight decrease in demand for our products and services. We cannot assure you that this trend will not continue. Uncertainties in the North American and European market have influenced the purchasing patterns of leading software developers who delayed their planned orders and caused certain developers to reduce the amount of their planned license commitment. These changes in purchasing patterns in the IT industry affected directly the operating results of some of our subsidiaries, which in turn affected our consolidated operating results.

As IT spending is more cautious, we have pursued a strategy aimed at addressing current market needs through the introduction of cost-effective, new and enhanced products. We strive to use our best efforts to take advantage of the current slow-down to prepare our infrastructure to maximize the long-term growth potential of the software market. We have recently completed a reorganization of the Formula Group involving a restructuring of our corporate structure and work force.

B. Compensation

In 2002, we paid to our directors and officers (seven persons) aggregate direct remuneration of approximately $845,600. This amount includes amounts set aside or accrued to provide post-employment benefits.

This amount does not include the following:

amounts expended by us for automobiles made available to our officers;

expenses, including business travel, professional and business association dues and expenses, that we reimburse our officers for; and other fringe benefits that companies in Israel commonly reimburse or pay to their officers.

The amount also includes payment of director's fees to our non-employee directors. Our employee directors do not receive fees for their services as directors. In 2002, we paid an aggregate amount of $58,383 for post-employment benefits for our executive officers and directors.

In November 2000, options to purchase 16,000 ordinary shares were granted to certain of our officers under the 2000 share option plan. No director has been granted options under this plan. The exercise price of the options is $30.8 per share, as indexed to the Israeli CPI. The options vest over a three-year period from the date of grant. Options to purchase 10,666 ordinary shares are currently exercisable. These options expire on the fifth anniversary of the date of grant.

Effective January 1, 1999, all of our executive officers and directors (other than the outside directors) entered into written employment agreements with us pursuant to which, among other things, we pay them a monthly salary in an agreed amount. The salary is linked to the Israeli CPI. Each party may terminate the agreement upon a 90-day notice. In addition, two of our executive officers are entitled to bonuses which aggregate approximately 3.5% of our consolidated net income exceeding $10 million.

C. Board Practices

Pursuant to our articles of association, directors are elected at the annual general meeting of shareholders by a vote of the holders of a majority of the voting power represented at the meeting. Each director, except for the outside directors described below, holds office until the next annual general meeting of shareholders. Officers are appointed by our board of directors. For information regarding the employment agreements of our officers, see Item 6.B. Compensation.

Outside Directors

Under the Companies Law, companies incorporated under the laws of Israel whose shares have been offered to the public in or outside of Israel, are required to appoint at least two outside directors. This law provides that a person may not be appointed as an outside director if the person or the person's relative, partner, employer or any entity under the person's control, has, as of the date of the person's appointment to serve as outside director, or had, during the two years preceding that date, any affiliation with the company or any entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with the company. The term "affiliation" includes:

an employment relationship;

a business or professional relationship maintained on a regular basis;

control; and service as an office holder.

No person may serve as an outside director if the person's position or other business activities create, or may create, a conflict of interest with the person's responsibilities as an outside director or may otherwise interfere with the person's ability to serve as an outside director. Outside directors are to be elected by a majority vote at a shareholders' meeting, provided that either:

the majority of shares voted at the meeting, including at least one-third of the shares of non-controlling shareholders voted at the meeting, vote in favor of election of the director; or the total number of shares of non-controlling shareholders voted against the election of the director does not exceed one percent of the aggregate voting rights in the company.

The initial term of an outside director is three years and may be extended for an additional three years. The independent directors appointed before the new Companies Law became effective shall serve as outside directors for a term of five years commencing upon their appointment in accordance with the provisions of the Israeli Companies Ordinance [New Version] 1983. These directors may not be reappointed until after two years have passed from the conclusion of their term.

Each committee of a company's board of directors is required to include at least one outside director. However, the audit committee shall include all the outside directors.

An outside director is entitled to compensation as provided in regulations promulgated under the Companies Law and is otherwise prohibited from receiving any compensation, directly or indirectly, in connection with services provided as an outside director. We compensate our two outside directors in accordance with regulations promulgated under the Israeli Companies Law, 1999.

Audit Committee

The Companies Law requires public companies to appoint an audit committee. We have established an audit committee, consisting of the two outside directors, Prof. Moshe Zviran and Daphna Kedmi, as well as Shai Beilis. The responsibilities of the audit committee under the Companies Law include identifying irregularities in the management of the company's business and approving related party transactions as required by law. Under the Companies Law, an audit committee must consist of at least three directors, including all of the outside directors. The chairman of the board of directors, any director employed by or otherwise providing services to the company, and a controlling shareholder or any relative of a controlling shareholder, may not be a member of the audit committee.

In addition, under the rules of the Nasdaq, we are currently required to have at least two independent directors and to maintain an audit committee, at least a majority of whose members are independent of management. Our outside directors qualify as independent directors under the rules of the Nasdaq.

Internal Auditor

Under the Companies Law, the board of directors must appoint an internal auditor, nominated by the audit committee. The role of the internal auditor is to examine, among other matters, whether the company's actions comply with the law and orderly business procedure. Under the Companies Law, the internal auditor may be an employee of the company but not an office holder, or an affiliate, or a relative of an office holder or affiliate, and he may not be the company's independent accountant or its representative.

Exculpation, Insurance and Indemnification of Directors and Officers

Under the Companies Law, an Israeli company may not exempt an office holder from liability with respect to a breach of his duty of loyalty, but may exempt in advance an office holder from his liability to the company, in whole or in part, with respect to a breach of his duty of care.

Office Holders Insurance

Our articles of association provide that, subject to the provisions of the Companies Law, we may enter into a contract for the insurance of the liability of any of our office holders imposed on the office holder in respect of an act performed in his or her capacity as an office holder, with respect to:

a breach of his duty of care to us or to another person;

a breach of his duty of loyalty to us, provided that the office holder acted in good faith and had reasonable cause to assume that his act would not prejudice our interests; or a financial liability imposed upon him in favor of another person.

We have obtained an insurance policy covering the Formula Group's directors' and officers' liability. Our subsidiaries participate in the premium payments of the insurance, on a proportional basis. The total premium Formula paid during 2002 was approximately $40,000.

Indemnification of Office Holders. Our articles of association provide that we may indemnify an office holder against:

a financial liability imposed on him in favor of another person by any judgment, including a settlement or an arbitrator's award approved by a court concerning an act performed in his capacity as an office holder; and reasonable litigation expenses, including attorneys' fees, expended by the office holder or charged to him by a court, in proceedings we institute against him or instituted on our behalf or by another person, or in a criminal charge from which he was acquitted, in each case relating to an act performed in his capacity as an office holder.

Limitations on Insurance and Indemnification. The Companies Law provides that a company may not indemnify an office holder nor enter into an insurance contract which would provide coverage for any monetary liability incurred as a result of any of the following:

a breach by the office holder of his duty of loyalty unless the office holder acted in good faith and had a reasonable basis to believe that the act would not prejudice the company;

a breach by the office holder of his duty of care if the breach was done intentionally or recklessly;

any act or omission done with the intent to derive an illegal personal benefit; or any fine levied against the office holder.

In addition, under the Companies Law, indemnification of, and procurement of insurance coverage for, our office holders must be approved by our audit committee and our board of directors and, in specified circumstances, by our shareholders.

In February 2002, we granted to each of our office holders an indemnification letter, pursuant to which we undertook to indemnify each office holder in respect of certain obligations and expenses. For information concerning the indemnification arrangement with our office holders, see Item 7.B. Related Party Transactions-Indemnification of Office Holders.

Approval of Certain Transactions under the Companies Law

The Companies Law codifies the fiduciary duties that office holders, including directors and executive officers, owe to a company. An office holder's fiduciary duties consist of a duty of care and a duty of loyalty. The duty of loyalty includes (i) avoiding any conflict of interest between the office holder's position in the company and his personal affairs, (ii) avoiding any competition with the company, (iii) avoiding exploiting any business opportunity of the company in order to receive personal advantage for himself or others, and (iv) revealing to the company any information or documents relating to the company's affairs which the office holder has received due to his position as an office holder. Each person listed in the table under Directors and Senior Management above is an office holder. Under the Companies Law, arrangements regarding the compensation of directors require the approval of the audit committee, the board of directors and shareholder approval.

The Companies Law requires that an office holder of a company promptly disclose any personal interest that he or she may have and all related material information known to him or her, in connection with any existing or proposed transaction by the company. In addition, if the transaction is an extraordinary transaction as defined under Israeli law, the office holder must also disclose any personal interest held by the office holder's spouse, siblings, parents, grandparents, descendants, spouse's descendants and the spouses of any of the foregoing. In addition, the office holder must also disclose any interest held by any corporation in which the office holder owns 5% or more of the share capital, is a director or general manager or in which he or she has the right to appoint at least one director or the general manager. An extraordinary transaction is defined as a transaction other than in the ordinary course of business, otherwise than on market terms, or that is likely to have a material impact on the company's profitability, assets or liabilities.

Under the Companies Law, after the office holder complies with the disclosure requirements described above, only board approval is required for any transaction which is not an extraordinary transaction, unless the articles of association of the company provide otherwise, and provided the transaction is not adverse to the company's interest. If the transaction is an extraordinary transaction, the company must receive any approval stipulated by the articles of association, the approval of the company's audit committee and the approval of the board of directors, as well as, under certain circumstances, approval by a meeting of the shareholders of the company. An office holder who has a personal interest in a matter which is considered at a meeting of the board of directors or the audit committee may not be present at this meeting or vote on this matter.

The Companies Law applies the same disclosure requirements to a controlling shareholder of a public company, which includes a shareholder that holds 25% or more of the voting rights in the company if no other shareholder owns more than 50% of the voting rights in the company. Extraordinary transactions with a controlling shareholder or in which a controlling shareholder has a personal interest, and the terms of compensation of a controlling shareholder who is an office holder, require the approval of the audit committee, the board of directors and the shareholders of the company. The shareholder approval must include at least one-third of the shareholders who have no personal interest in the transaction and are present, in person or by proxy, at the meeting or, alternatively, the total shareholdings of those who have no personal interest in the transaction who vote against the transaction must not represent more than one percent of the voting rights in the company. In certain cases provided in regulations promulgated under the Companies Law, shareholder approval is not required.

In a private placement of securities that will increase the relative holdings of a shareholder that holds five percent or more of the company's outstanding share capital (assuming the exercise or conversion of all securities held by that person that are exercisable for or convertible into shares) or that will cause any person to become, as a result of the issuance, a holder of more than five percent of the company's outstanding share capital, the Companies Law requires that the company receive its shareholders' approval. In certain cases provided in regulations promulgated under the Companies Law, shareholder approval is not required.

D. Employees

We have approximately 3,500 full-time employees, of whom approximately 3,100 are software professionals. In 2001, we had approximately 3,700 full-time employees, of whom approximately 3,300 were software professionals. In 2000, we had approximately 4,400 full-time employees, of whom approximately 3,960 were software professionals. The decrease in the number of employees in 2002 compared to 2001 relates primarily to the sale of certain of our privately-held subsidiaries to Formula Vision, at the end of 2001. The decrease in the number of employees in 2001 compared to 2000 relates primarily to the restructuring process held by certain of our subsidiaries, including closing of branches.

With respect to our employees in Israel, we are subject to various Israeli labor laws and labor practices, and to administrative orders extending certain provisions of collective bargaining agreements between the Histadrut (Israel's General Federation of Labor) and the Coordinating Bureau of Economic Organizations (the Israeli federation of employers' organizations) to all private sector employees. For example, mandatory cost of living adjustments, which compensate Israeli employees for a portion of the increase in the Israeli consumer price index, are determined on a nationwide basis. Israeli law also requires the payment of severance benefits upon the termination, retirement or death of an employee. We meet this requirement by contributing on an ongoing basis towards managers' insurance funds that combine pension, insurance and, if applicable, severance pay benefits. In addition, Israeli employers and employees are required to pay specified percentages of wages to the National Insurance Institute, which is similar to the United States Social Security Administration. Other provisions of Israeli law or regulation govern matters such as the length of the workday, minimum wages, other terms of employment and restrictions on discrimination. We are also subject to the labor laws and regulations of other jurisdictions in the world where we have employees.

Arrangements Involving the Issue or Grant of Options to Purchase Shares

In August 1997, we granted options to purchase 135,000 ordinary shares to certain of our employees, including options to purchase 97,000 shares granted to certain of our officers and directors. The exercise price of these options was $18.6 per share, as indexed to the Israeli CPI. The options vested over a three-year period from the date of grant. These options expired in August 2002. Of these options, options to purchase 76,650 shares have been exercised.

The 2000 Share Option Plan

In November 2000, we adopted a share option plan under which we may grant options to purchase up to an aggregate of 300,000 ordinary shares to employees and members of our management. The options expire on the fifth anniversary of the date of grant. As of June 15, 2003, none of these options has been exercised.

Option Plans of Our Subsidiaries

Our operating subsidiaries generally have share option plans pursuant to which qualified directors, employees and consultants may be granted options for the purchase of securities in these subsidiaries. In addition, these subsidiaries may from time to time grant options to third parties as part of a business transaction.

Options Granted to Shandol

On September 6, 1999, an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders approved the grant of options to purchase 1,000,000 ordinary shares to Shandol Ltd., one of our former subsidiaries, currently a subsidiary of Formula Vision. On August 10, 2000, an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders approved the grant of additional options to Shandol to purchase 500,000 ordinary shares. In November 2001, Shandol exercised options to purchase 1,000,000 ordinary shares. The remaining options to purchase 500,000 ordinary shares are still outstanding. The exercise price of these options is the average price of an ordinary share on the TASE during the 14 trading days prior to the notice of exercise. These options expire five years from the date of grant.

ITEM 7. MAJOR SHAREHOLDERS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONSA. Major Shareholders

The following table presents information regarding the ownership of our ordinary shares at June 1, 2003 by each person known to us to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of our ordinary shares based on information provided to us by the holders or disclosed in public filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Except where we indicated otherwise, we believe, based on information furnished by these owners, that the beneficial owners of our shares listed below have sole investment and voting power with respect to the shares.

Name and Address	Shares Beneficially Owned	Percent of Class ⁽¹⁾
Dan Goldstein ⁽²⁾	2,000,034	20.0%
Iscal Holdings Ltd. ⁽³⁾	791,468	7.9%
Computer Direct to Israel (MIL) Ltd. ⁽⁴⁾	579,838	5.8%

- (1) Ordinary shares deemed beneficially owned by virtue of the right of any person or group to acquire these ordinary shares within 60 days of June 1, 2003, are treated as outstanding only for the purposes of determining the percent owned by this person or group. Percentages in the above table are based on 10,000,000 ordinary shares outstanding as of June 1, 2003.
- (2) Dan Goldstein purchased 850,000 ordinary shares from Shamrock Holdings of California Inc. On February 20, 2002, Dan Goldstein, his brother Gad Goldstein and Iscal Holdings Ltd. entered into a binding memorandum, pursuant to which the parties agreed to sign within 30 days an agreement with respect to (i) first refusal rights in the event of a sale of Formula shares by either of the parties; (ii) bring-along and tag-along rights upon sale of shares; and (iii) an undertaking of Iscal with respect to a minimum rate of holdings of Formula's shares and terms of sale of the shares to third parties. In addition, the binding memorandum provides that if within nine months, Iscal holdings in Formula exceed 2,300,000 ordinary shares, representing 22.28% of Formula outstanding share capital, the parties will enter into a voting agreement with respect, inter alia, to exercising voting rights at our general meetings. In the event that Iscal's holdings exceed 1,000,000 ordinary shares, representing 9.7% of Formula outstanding share capital, or constituting at least 40% of Dan and Gad Goldstein's holdings in Formula shares, the parties will enter into a partial voting agreement which will entitle Iscal to nominate at least one director to our board of directors. Any voting agreement, if agreed upon, is subject to the approvals required under the Companies Law, including a tender offer, if required. A comprehensive agreement or voting agreements between Dan Goldstein, Gad Goldstein and Iscal have not been signed.
- (3) Foichtweinger 1984 Investments Ltd., the major shareholder of Iscal, holds a 24.9% interest in Iscal. For information regarding a binding memorandum entered between Dan Goldstein, Gad Goldstein and Iscal Holdings Ltd. on February 20, 2002, see footnote (2) above.

As of June 1, 2003, 10,000,000 ordinary shares were issued and outstanding, excluding 324,780 ordinary shares that we purchased during 2002. At that date, we had approximately 15 shareholders of record. All of our ordinary shares have equal voting rights. However, under applicable Israeli law, the shares we hold have no voting rights and, therefore, are excluded from the number of our outstanding shares.

As of June 1, 2003, 490,662 ADSs were issued and outstanding pursuant to a depository agreement with The Bank of New York, representing 490,662 of our ordinary shares. As of that date, there were 10 registered holders of ADSs in the United States.

B. Related Party Transactions

Purchase of Sintec Media Shares by Formula Vision

In September 2001, Sintec entered into an agreement with Formula Vision, pursuant to which Formula Vision purchased Sintec's entire shareholdings in Sintec Media Ltd., representing 25% of Sintec Media Ltd.'s outstanding share capital, for aggregate consideration of $2.6 million. In connection with this transaction, Formula Vision has granted to Sintec an option, exercisable within three years from the date of closing, to purchase up to 10% of the shares sold to Formula Vision, at the same purchase price set out in the agreement between the parties. This transaction is considered a related party transaction since Dan and Gad Goldstein serve as directors of Formula Vision and Sintec.

Purchase of T-Soft Shares by Formula Vision

In September 2001, Comsoft Technologies Ltd. entered into an agreement with Formula Vision, pursuant to which Formula Vision purchased Comsoft's entire shareholdings in T-Soft Ltd., representing 46% of T-Soft Ltd.'s outstanding share capital, for aggregate consideration of $2.8 million. In connection with this transaction, Formula Vision has granted to Comsoft an option, exercisable within three years from the date of closing, to purchase up to 10% of the shares sold to Formula Vision, at the same purchase price set out in the agreement between the parties. This transaction is considered a related party transaction since Dan and Gad Goldstein serve as directors of Formula Vision and Comsoft.

Purchase of LetMeKnow Shares and Polyglot Shares by Formula Vision

In September 2001, Formula Vision entered into an agreement with a wholly owned subsidiary of Crystal, pursuant to which Formula Vision purchased the entire shareholdings of Crystal's subsidiary in LetMeKnow Ltd. and Polyglot Ltd., for aggregate consideration of $1.5 million. In addition, Crystal transferred to Formula Vision its undertakings in connection with convertible loans in an aggregate of $400,000 and guarantees of $600,000 extended to LetMeKnow, and shareholders' loan of $82,000 and guarantees of up to $1.1 million extended by Crystal to Polyglot. In connection with this transaction, Formula Vision has granted to Crystal's subsidiary an option, exercisable within three years from the date of closing, to purchase up to 10% of the shares sold to Formula Vision, at the same purchase price set out in the agreement between the parties. This transaction is considered a related party transaction since Dan and Gad Goldstein serve as directors of Formula Vision and Crystal.

Transactions between Formula and Formula Vision

In July 2001, Formula granted to Formula Vision, an option to purchase our interests in certain privately-held companies. On November 28, 2001, Formula Vision exercised the option. Accordingly, we transferred to Formula Vision our entire interest, including related obligations, in certain companies for aggregate consideration of $58.9 million. Under the agreement with Formula Vision, Formula Vision issued to us in December 2001, a series of debentures of $58.9 million in the aggregate, linked to the Israeli CPI and bearing an interest at an annual rate of 5%. On March 31, 2002, we lent to Formula Vision an additional $19.4 million in consideration for a series of debentures with similar terms of the debentures issued in December 2001. Formula is entitled, during a 3-year period, to repurchase from Formula Vision up to 10% of the sold shares of the transferred companies, at the same purchase price set out in the agreement between the parties. As part of the agreement between us and Formula Vision, we also transferred to Formula Vision our rights and obligations with respect to the transferred companies under our agreements with each of Shamrock, FIMI and IDB. This series of transactions is considered a related party transaction since Dan and Gad Goldstein serve as directors of Formula and Formula Vision.

For more information about the transaction between Formula and Formula Vision, see Item 4.A. History and Development of the Company -Capital Expenditures and Divestitures-Restructuring of Our Corporate Structure.

Transactions between Formula and Matrix

In November 2002, we completed a sale to Matrix of our entire shareholdings in New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan, for an aggregate consideration of $29.7 million. The purpose of the transaction was to create the largest information technology company in Israel, providing Matrix with critical mass, operating efficiencies and a more unified corporate structure. In this transaction, we sold to Matrix (i) shares previously held by us; (ii) shares that we purchased in October 2002 from third parties; and (iii) shares that we purchased in tender offers that we published in October 2002. The price per share paid to us by Matrix for each of New Applicom's, Sintec's and Sivan's shares previously held by us and those purchased from third parties was equal to the equity per share of each of the companies. The price per share paid to us by Matrix for the shares purchased in the tender offers was equal to the purchase price we paid for them in the tender offers.

For additional information regarding this transaction, see Item 4.A. History and Development of the Company-Capital Expenditures and Divestitures - Sale of New Applicom, Sintec and Sivan to Matrix.

Sale of Liraz's shares to Crystal

In November 2002, we sold to Crystal, in a share exchange transaction, our 57.9% interest in Liraz. In consideration, Crystal issued to us Crystal ordinary shares representing 9.0% of Crystal outstanding share capital. The exchange ratio was set at 1:1.67, which we believe reflects a fair ratio between the values of the two companies.

For additional information regarding this transaction, see Item 4.A. History and Development of the Company-Capital Expenditures and Divestitures - Sale of Liraz to Crystal.

Indemnification of Office Holders

In February 2002, we granted to each of our office holders an indemnification letter, pursuant to which we undertook to indemnify each office holder in respect of an obligation or expense imposed on the office holder in respect of an act performed in his or her capacity as an office holder, provided, however, that the undertaking is limited to categories of events specified in the indemnification letter and subject to the provisions of any law, as follows:

- (i) a financial obligation imposed on him or her in favor of another person by a court judgment, including a compromise judgment or an arbitrator's award approved by court; and
- (ii) reasonable litigation expenses including attorneys' fees, expended by an office holder or charged to the office holder by a court, in a proceeding instituted against the office holder by the company or on its behalf or by another person, or in a criminal charge from which the office holder was acquitted, or in a criminal proceeding in which the office holder was convicted of an offense that does not require proof of criminal intent.

The indemnification described above shall also apply to an obligation or expense imposed on the office holder in respect of an act performed in his or her capacity as an office holder or an employee of one of our subsidiaries. Our undertaking for indemnification is limited to up to 25% of our equity as it appears in our latest financial statements known at the date of indemnification.

Our undertaking for indemnification shall not apply to a liability incurred as a result of any of the following:

- (i) a breach by the office holder of his or her duty of loyalty, unless the office holder acted in good faith and had a reasonable basis to believe that the act would not prejudice the company;
- (ii) a breach by the office holder of his or her duty of care if the breach was done intentionally or recklessly;
- (iii) any act or omission done with the intent to derive an illegal personal benefit; or
- (iv) any fine levied against the office holder.

We shall not be required to indemnify an office holder, if the office holder, or anyone on its behalf, already received payment in respect of a liability subject to indemnification, under an effective insurance coverage or an effective indemnification arrangement with a third party, provided, however, that if such payment made to the office holder does not cover the entire liability subject to the indemnification, we shall indemnify the office holder in respect of the difference between the amount paid to the office holder and the liability subject to the indemnification.

Office Holders Insurance

We have obtained an insurance policy covering the Formula Group's directors' and officers' liability. Our subsidiaries participate in the premium payments of the insurance, on a proportional basis. The total premium Formula paid during 2002 was approximately $40,000.

Other Transactions

From time to time, in our ordinary course of business, we engage in transactions with our subsidiaries and affiliates. We believe that these agreements are made on an arms length basis upon terms and conditions no less favorable to us, our subsidiaries and affiliates, as we could obtain from unaffiliated third parties. If we engage with our subsidiaries and affiliates in transactions which are not in the ordinary course of business, we receive the approvals required under the Companies Law. These approvals include audit committee approval, board approval and, in certain circumstances, shareholders approval. See Item 6.C. Board Practices.

ITEM 10. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

A. Share Capital

Not applicable

B. Memorandum and Articles of Association

We are registered with the Israeli Companies Register under the number 52-003669-0. Our objects are specified in our memorandum of association. These objects include:

operating within the field of informational and computer systems;

providing management, consulting and sale services for computers, computer equipment, software for computers and for information systems;

the business of systems analysis, systems programming and computer programming; and establishing facilities for instruction and training for computers and digital systems.

Description of Our Share Capital

Our company share capital consists of ordinary shares. Our articles of association do not restrict in any way the ownership of our ordinary shares by non-residents, except that these restrictions may exist with respect to citizens of countries which are in a state of war with Israel.

Dividend and Liquidation Rights

We may declare a dividend to be paid to the holders of ordinary shares according to their rights and interests in our profits. We may invest or use for our own benefit all unclaimed dividends. If dividends remain unclaimed for seven years from the date we declared the dividend they lapse and revert back to us. Our board of directors can cause us to pay the dividend to a holder who would have been entitled if the dividend had not reverted back to us. In case of liquidation, after satisfying liabilities to creditors, our assets will be distributed to the holders of ordinary shares in proportion to their holdings. This right may be affected by the grant of a preferential dividend or distribution rights to the holders of a class of shares with preferential rights that may be authorized in the future. Under the Companies Law, the declaration of a dividend does not require the approval of the shareholders of the company, unless the company's articles of association require otherwise. Our articles of association provide that our board of directors may declare and pay dividends without any further action of our shareholders.

Redemption provisions

In accordance with our articles of association, we may issue redeemable shares and accordingly redeem those shares.

Voting, Shareholder Meetings and Resolutions

Holders of our ordinary shares have one vote for each ordinary share held on all matters submitted to the vote of shareholders. These voting rights may be affected by the grant of any special voting rights to the holders of a class of shares with preferential rights that may be authorized in the future.

We must hold an annual general meeting once a year with a maximum period of fifteen months between the meetings. All other meetings of shareholders other than annual general meetings are considered special general meetings. Our board of directors may call a special general meeting whenever it decides it is appropriate. In addition, shareholders representing 5% of the outstanding share capital may require the board of directors to call a special general meeting. The quorum required for a general meeting of shareholders consists of two or more holders present in person or by proxy who hold or represent at least 25% of the voting power. A meeting adjourned for a lack of a quorum generally is adjourned to the same day in the following week at the same time and place or any time and place as the chairman of the meeting may decide with the consent of the holders of a majority of the voting power represented at the meeting in person or by proxy and voting on the question of adjournment. At the reconvened meeting, if a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for holding the meeting, the required quorum will consist of two shareholders present in person or by proxy.

Under the Companies Law, unless otherwise provided in the articles of association or applicable law, all resolutions of the shareholders require a simple majority, except in certain circumstances provided for under the Companies Law, which require a majority of at least 75% of the shares present at the meeting. In accordance with the Companies Law, all shareholders meetings require prior notice of at least 21 days.

Under the Companies Law, a shareholder has a duty to act in good faith towards the company in which he holds shares and towards other shareholders and to refrain from abusing his power in the company including voting in the general meeting of shareholders on:

any amendment to the articles of association

an increase of the company's authorized share capital

a merger; or approval of some of the acts and transactions which require shareholder approval.

73

A shareholder has the general duty to refrain from depriving rights of other shareholders. Any controlling shareholder, any shareholder who knows that it possesses the power to determine the outcome of a shareholder vote and any shareholder that, under the provisions of the articles of association, has the power to appoint an office holder in the company, is under a duty to act in fairness towards the company. The Companies Law does not describe the substance of this duty.

Transfer of Shares

Fully paid ordinary shares are issued in registered form and may be freely transferred under our articles of association unless the transfer is restricted or prohibited by another instrument.

Modification of Class Rights

Under our articles of association, the rights attached to any class unless otherwise provided by the terms of the class including voting, rights to dividends and the like, may be varied by adoption of the necessary amendment to the articles of association, provided that the affected shareholders approve the change by a class meeting in which a simple majority of the voting power of the class represented at the meeting and voting on the matter approves the change.

Election of Directors

Our ordinary shares do not have cumulative voting rights in the election of directors. As a result, the holders of ordinary shares that represent more than 50% of the voting power represented at a shareholders meeting have the power to elect all of our directors, other than the outside directors which are appointed by a special majority of shareholders. For a summary of those provisions in our articles of association with respect to the directors, see Item 6. Directors, Senior Management and Employees.

Anti-Takeover Provisions; Mergers and Acquisitions under Israeli Law

Mergers

The Companies Law includes provisions that allow a merger transaction and requires that each company that is party to a merger approve the transaction by its board of directors and a vote of the majority of its shares voting on the proposed merger at a shareholders' meeting called on at least 21 days prior notice. In determining whether a majority has approved the merger, shares held by the other party to the merger or any person holding at least 25% of the other party to the merger are excluded from the vote. The Companies Law does not require court approval of a merger other than in specified situations. Upon the request of a creditor of either party to the proposed merger, the court may delay or prevent the merger if it concludes that there exists a reasonable concern that as a result of the merger, the surviving company will be unable to satisfy the obligations of any of the parties to the merger. In addition, a merger may not be completed unless at least 70 days have passed from the time that a proposal for approval of the merger has been filed with the Israeli registrar of companies.

Tender Offers

The Companies law also provides that an acquisition of shares of a public company on the open market must be made by means of a tender offer if as a result of the acquisition the purchaser would become a 25% shareholder of the company. The rule does not apply if there is already another 25% shareholder of the company. Similarly, the Companies Law provides that an acquisition of shares in a public company must be made by means of a tender offer if, as a result of the acquisition, the purchaser would become a 45% shareholder, unless there is a 50% shareholder of the company. These rules do not apply if the acquisition is made by way of a merger as opposed to a tender offer. Regulations adopted under the Companies Law provide that these tender offer requirements do not apply to companies whose shares are listed for trading outside of Israel if, according to the law in the country in which the shares are traded, including the rules and regulations of the stock exchange on which the shares are traded, there is either a limitation on acquisition of any level of control of the company, or the acquisition of any level of control requires the purchaser to do so by means of a tender offer to the public. The Companies Law also provides that if following any acquisition of shares, the acquirer holds 90% or more of the company's shares or of a class of shares, the acquisition must be made by means of a tender offer for all the target company's shares or all the shares of the class, as applicable. An acquirer who wishes to eliminate all minority shareholders must do so by way of a tender offer and acquire 95% of all shares not held by or for the benefit of the acquirer before the acquisition. If, however, the tender offer to acquire 95% is not successful, the acquirer may not acquire shares tendered if by doing so the acquirer would own more than 90% of the shares of the target company.

C. Material Contracts

For a summary of our material contracts, see Item 4.A. Information on the Company Capital Expenditures and Divestitures.

D. Exchange Controls

Under current Israeli regulations, we may pay dividends or other distributions in respect of our ordinary shares either in non-Israeli or Israeli currencies. If we make these payments in Israeli currency, they will be freely transferred in non-Israeli currencies at the rate of exchange prevailing at the time of conversion. We expect therefore, that dividends, if any, that we pay to holders of ADSs, will be paid in dollars, net of conversion expenses of the depositary, the Bank of New York and Israeli income taxes. Because exchange rates between the NIS and the dollar fluctuate continuously, a U.S. shareholder will be subject to the risk of currency fluctuations between the date when we declare NIS-denominated dividends and the date when we pay them in NIS. See Item 3.D. Risk Factors.

Non-residents of Israel may freely hold and trade our ADSs or ordinary shares pursuant to the general permit issued under the Israeli Currency Control Law, 1978. Neither our articles of association nor the laws of the State of Israel restrict in any way the ownership of our ordinary shares by non-residents, except that these restrictions may exist with respect to citizens of countries which are in a state of war with Israel.

E. Taxation

Israeli Taxation

The following is general information regarding Israeli tax laws to which U.S. and other non-Israeli shareholders may be subject. It does not cover all possible tax considerations and therefore you should not rely on this information as legal or professional tax advice. You should consult your own tax advisor as to the particular tax consequences of an investment in our ordinary shares or ADSs, including the effects of applicable Israeli or foreign or other tax laws and possible changes in the tax laws.

To the extent that the discussion is based on legislation yet to be judicially or administratively interpreted, we cannot assure you that the views we express herein will accord with any such interpretation in the future.

On January 1, 2003 Israel's tax laws had undergone a significant tax reform (Amendment 132 to Israel's Income Tax Ordinance (New Version) - 1961), referred to as the new law. The underlying principle of the new law is to broaden the categories of taxable income, and reduce the tax rates imposed on employment income. Under the new law, individual shareholders (which are not subject to the provisions of the Inflationary Adjustments Law), selling our ordinary shares shall be subject to a 15% tax rate on any capital gain accrued after January 1, 2003. Under the new law, foreign residents will continue to be exempt from capital gains tax on sale of traded securities of Israeli companies. The foregoing does not apply to companies which are subject to Chapter II of the Income Tax (Inflationary Adjustments) Law, 1985. In general, Chapter II of the Inflationary Adjustments Law applies to all Israeli companies, except for companies which comply with all of the following: (i) they do not generate any business income; (ii) they do not apply for a deduction of financing expenses; and (iii) they are held only by individuals. Notwithstanding the foregoing, dealers in securities in Israel are taxed at regular tax rates applicable to business income. We obtained a ruling from the Israeli income tax authorities confirming that capital gains received upon sale of ADSs will be subject to the same treatment as capital gains received upon sale of our ordinary shares.

Pursuant to the convention between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of Israel with respect to taxes on income (the U.S.-Israel tax treaty), the sale, exchange or disposition of our ADSs or ordinary shares by a person who qualifies as a resident of the United States under the treaty and who is entitled to claim the benefits afforded to him by the treaty, will generally not be subject to Israeli capital gains tax. This exemption shall not apply to a person who held, directly or indirectly, shares representing 10% or more of the voting power in our company during any part of the 12-month period preceding the sale, exchange or disposition, subject to certain conditions. A sale, exchange or disposition of our shares by a U.S. resident qualified under the treaty, who held, directly or indirectly, shares representing 10% or more of the voting power in our company at any time during the preceding 12-month period would be subject to Israeli tax, to the extent applicable. However, under the treaty, this U.S. resident would be permitted to claim a credit for these taxes, if apply, against the U.S. income tax with respect to the sale, exchange or disposition, subject to the limitations in U.S. laws applicable to foreign tax credits.

Non-residents of Israel are subject to income tax on income accrued or derived from sources in Israel or received in Israel. These sources of income include passive income like dividends, royalties and interest, as well as non-passive income from services rendered in Israel. On distributions of dividends other than bonus shares (stock dividends) we should generally withhold at source income tax at a rate of 25%, unless a different rate applies under a treaty between Israel and the shareholder's country of residence. Under the U.S.-Israel tax treaty, the maximum tax on dividends paid to a holder of our ADSs or ordinary shares who is a resident of the United States will be 25% or 12.5% if the holder is a company which holds, directly or indirectly, shares representing 10% or more of the voting power in our company during any part of the 12-month period preceding the date of payment of the dividend. However, under the Law for the Encouragement of Capital Investments, 1959 (the Investments Law), dividends generated by an approved enterprise are taxed at the rate of 15%.

United States Federal Income Tax Considerations

Subject to the limitations described herein, this discussion summarizes the material United States federal income tax consequences of the purchase, ownership and disposition of our ordinary shares or ADSs to a United States holder. A United States holder is a holder of our ordinary shares or ADSs who is:

an individual citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation (or another entity taxable as a corporation for United States federal income tax purposes) created or organized under the laws of the United States or any political subdivision thereof;

an estate, the income of which may be included in gross income for United States federal income tax purposes regardless of its source; or a trust (i) if, in general, a United States court is able to exercise primary supervision over its administration and one or more United States persons have the authority to control all of its substantial decisions or (ii) that has in effect a valid election under applicable United States Treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person.

Unless otherwise specifically indicated, this discussion does not consider the United States tax consequences to a person that is not a United States holder and considers only United States holders that will own the ordinary shares or ADSs as capital assets.

This discussion is based on current provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, referred to as the Code, current and proposed Treasury regulations promulgated under the Code and administrative and judicial interpretations of the Code, all as currently in effect and all of which are subject to change, possibly with a retroactive effect. This discussion does not address all aspects of United States federal income taxation that may be relevant to any particular United States holder based on the United States holder's particular circumstances. In particular, this discussion does not address the United States federal income tax consequences to United States holders who are broker-dealers or who own, directly, indirectly or constructively, 10% or more of our outstanding voting shares, United States holders holding the ordinary shares or ADSs as part of a hedging, straddle or conversion transaction, United States holders whose functional currency is not the United States dollar, insurance companies, tax-exempt organizations, financial institutions and persons subject to the alternative minimum tax, who may be subject to special rules not discussed below. Additionally, the tax treatment of persons who hold the ordinary shares or ADSs through a partnership or other pass-through entity is not considered, nor is the possible application of United States federal estate or gift taxes or any aspect of state, local or non- United States tax laws.

You are advised to consult your tax advisor with respect to the specific United States federal, state, local and foreign income tax consequences to you of purchasing, holding or disposing of our ordinary shares or ADSs.

Taxation on Distributions on the Ordinary Shares or ADSs

In August 2001, Formula distributed to its shareholders a dividend in kind of Formula Vision's (formerly known as Mashov Computers Ltd.) shares held by Formula, which was distributed in the form of cash to holders of our ADRs. Other than this distribution, Formula has never paid dividends, and currently does not intend to pay dividends in the future. If Formula makes distributions in the future, the amount of the distribution with respect to the ordinary shares or ADSs will equal the amount of cash and the fair market value of any property distributed and will also include the amount of any Israeli taxes withheld, as described above under Israeli Taxation. A distribution paid by us with respect to the ordinary shares or ADSs to a United States holder will be treated as dividend income to the extent that the distribution does not exceed our current and accumulated earnings and profits, as determined for United States federal income tax purposes. Dividends that are received by United States holders that are individuals, estates or trusts will be taxed at the rate applicable to long-term capital gains (a maximum rate of 15%), provided that such dividends meet the requirements of qualified dividend income. Dividends that fail to meet such requirements, and dividends received by corporate United States holders, are taxed at ordinary income rates. No dividend received by a United States holder will be a qualified dividend (1) if the United States holder held the ordinary share or ADS with respect to which the dividend was paid for less than 61 days during the 120-day period beginning on the date that is 60 days before the ex-dividend date with respect to such dividend, excluding for this purpose, under the rules of Code section 246(c), any period during which the United States holder has an option to sell, is under a contractual obligation to sell, has made and not closed a short sale of, is the grantor of a deep-in-the-money or otherwise nonqualified option to buy, or has otherwise diminished its risk of loss by holding other positions with respect to, such ordinary share or ADS (or substantially identical securities); or (2) to the extent that the United States holder is under an obligation (pursuant to a short sale or otherwise) to make related payments with respect to positions in property substantially similar or related to the ordinary share or ADS with respect to which the dividend is paid. If we were to be a passive foreign investment company, a foreign personal holding company or a foreign investment company (as such terms are defined in the Code) for any year, dividends paid on our ordinary shares or ADSs in such year or in the following year would not be qualified dividends. In addition, a non-corporate United States holder will be able to take a qualified dividend into account in determining its deductible investment interest (which is generally limited to its net investment income) only if it elects to do; in such case the dividend will be taxed at ordinary income rates.

The amount of any distribution which exceeds the amount treated as a dividend will be treated first as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the United States holder's tax basis in its ordinary shares or ADSs to the extent thereof, and then as capital gain from the deemed disposition of the ordinary shares or ADSs. Corporate holders will not be allowed a deduction for dividends received in respect of the ordinary shares or ADSs.

Dividends paid by us in NIS will be included in the income of United States holders at the dollar amount of the dividend (including any Israeli taxes withheld therefrom), based upon the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of the distribution. United States holders will have a tax basis in the NIS for United States federal income tax purposes equal to that dollar value. Any subsequent gain or loss in respect of the NIS arising from exchange rate fluctuations will generally be taxable as United States source ordinary income or loss.

Subject to the limitations set forth in the Code and the Treasury regulations thereunder, United States holders may elect to claim as a foreign tax credit against their United States federal income tax liability the Israeli income tax withheld from dividends received in respect of the ordinary shares or ADSs. The limitations on claiming a foreign tax credit include, among others, computation rules under which foreign tax credits allowable with respect to specific classes of income cannot exceed the United States federal income taxes otherwise payable with respect to each such class of income. In this regard, dividends paid by us will be foreign source passive income for U.S. foreign tax credit purposes or, in the case of a financial services entity, financial services income. United States holders that do not elect to claim a foreign tax credit may instead claim a deduction for the Israeli income tax withheld. The rules relating to foreign tax credits are complex, and you should consult your tax advisor to determine whether and to what extent you would be entitled to this credit. A United States holder will be denied a foreign tax credit for Israeli income tax withheld from a dividend received on the ordinary shares or ADSs (i) if the United States holder has not held the ordinary shares or ADSs for at least 16 days of the 30 day period beginning on the date which is 15 days before the ex-dividend date with respect to such dividend or (ii) to the extent the United States holder is under an obligation to make related payments with respect to positions in substantially similar or related property. Any days during which a United States holder has substantially diminished its risk of loss on the ordinary shares or ADSs are not counted toward meeting the required 16 day holding period. Distributions of current or accumulated earnings and profits will be foreign source passive income for United States foreign tax credit purposes.

Taxation on Disposition of the Ordinary Shares or ADSs

Subject to the discussion below under Tax Consequences if We are a Passive Foreign Investment Company, upon the sale, exchange or other disposition of our ordinary shares or ADSs, a United States holder will recognize capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized on the disposition and the United States holder's tax basis in the ordinary shares or ADSs. The gain or loss recognized on the disposition will be long-term capital gain or loss if the United States holder held the ordinary shares or ADSs for more than one year at the time of the disposition. Gain or loss recognized by a United States holder on a sale, exchange or other disposition of ordinary shares or ADSs will be treated as U.S. source income or loss for United States foreign tax credit purposes.

A United States holder that uses the cash method of accounting calculates the dollar value of the proceeds received on the sale as of the date that the sale settles. However, a United States holder that uses the accrual method of accounting is required to calculate the value of the proceeds of the sale as of the trade date and may therefore realize foreign currency gain or loss. A United States holder may avoid realizing foreign currency gain or loss by electing to use the settlement date to determine the proceeds of sale for purposes of calculating the foreign currency gain or loss. In addition, a United States holder that receives foreign currency upon disposition of ordinary shares or ADSs and converts the foreign currency into dollars after the settlement date or trade date (whichever date the United States holder is required to use to calculate the value of the proceeds of sale) will have foreign exchange gain or loss based on any appreciation or depreciation in the value of the foreign currency against the dollar, which will generally be United States source ordinary income or loss.

Tax Consequences if We are a Passive Foreign Investment Company

We will be a passive foreign investment company, or PFIC, if either (1) 75% or more of our gross income in a taxable year is passive income; or (2) 50% or more of the value, determined on the basis of a quarterly average, of our assets in a taxable year are held for the production of passive income. If we own (directly or indirectly) at least 25% by value of the stock of another corporation, we will be treated for purposes of the foregoing tests as owning our proportionate share of the other corporation's assets and as directly earning our proportionate share of the other corporation's income. If we are a PFIC, a United States holder must determine under which of three alternative taxing regimes it wishes to be taxed:

The QEF regime applies if the United States holder elects to treat us as a qualified electing fund (QEF) for the first taxable year in which the United States holder owns our ordinary shares or ADSs or in which we are a PFIC, whichever is later, and if we comply with certain reporting requirements. If the QEF regime applies, then each year that we are a PFIC such United States holder will include in its gross income a proportionate share of our ordinary earnings (which is taxed as ordinary income) and net capital gain (which is taxed as long-term capital gain), subject to a separate election to defer payment of taxes, which deferral is subject to an interest charge. These amounts would be included in income by an electing United States holder for its taxable year in which our taxable year ends, whether or not such amounts are actually distributed to the United States holder. A United States holder's basis in our ordinary shares or ADSs for which a QEF election has been made would be increased to reflect the amount of any taxed but undistributed income. Generally, a QEF election allows an electing United States holder to treat any gain realized on the disposition of his ordinary shares or ADSs as capital gain.

Once made, the QEF election applies to all subsequent taxable years of the United States holder in which it holds our ordinary shares or ADSs and for which we are a PFIC, and can be revoked only with the consent of the Internal Revenue Service. The QEF election is made by attaching a completed Internal Revenue Service Form 8621, including the PFIC annual information statement, to a timely filed United States federal income tax return. Even if a QEF election is not made, a U.S. person who is a shareholder in a PFIC must file a completed Internal Revenue Service Form 8621 every year.

If a QEF election is made after the first taxable year in which a United States holder holds our ordinary shares or ADSs and we are a PFIC, then special rules would apply.

A second regime, the mark-to-market regime, may be elected so long as our ordinary shares or ADSs are publicly traded. Pursuant to this regime, an electing United States holder's ordinary shares or ADSs are marked-to-market each year and the United States holder recognizes as ordinary income or loss an amount equal to the difference as of the close of the taxable year between the fair market value of our ordinary shares or ADSs and the United States holder's adjusted tax basis therein. Losses are allowed only to the extent of net mark-to-market gain previously included by the United States holder under the election for prior taxable years. An electing United States holder's adjusted basis in our ordinary shares or ADSs is increased by income recognized under the mark-to-market election and decreased by the deductions allowed under the election.

Under the mark-to-market election, gain on the sale of our ordinary shares or ADSs is treated as ordinary income, and loss on the sale of our ordinary shares or ADSs, to the extent the amount of loss does not exceed the net mark-to-market gain previously included, is treated as ordinary loss. The mark-to-market election applies to the tax year for which the election is made and all later tax years, unless the ordinary shares or ADSs cease to be marketable or the Internal Revenue Service consents to the revocation of the election.

If the mark-to-market election is made after the first taxable year in which a United States holder holds our ordinary shares or ADSs and we are a PFIC, then special rules would apply.

A United States holder making neither the QEF election nor the mark-to-market election is subject to the excess distribution regime. Under this regime, excess distributions are subject to special tax rules. An excess distribution is either (1) a distribution with respect to ordinary shares or ADSs that is greater than 125% of the average distributions received by the United States holder from us over the shorter of either the preceding three years or such United States holder's holding period for our ordinary shares or ADSs, or (2) 100% of the gain from the disposition of our ordinary shares or ADSs.

Excess distributions must be allocated ratably to each day that a United States holder has held our ordinary shares or ADSs. A United States holder must include amounts allocated to the current taxable year in its gross income as ordinary income for that year. All amounts allocated to prior years of the United States holder would be taxed at the highest tax rate for each such prior year applicable to ordinary income. The United States holder also would be liable for interest on the deferred tax liability for each such prior year calculated as if such liability had been due with respect to each such prior year. A United States holder that is an individual is not allowed a deduction for interest on the deferred tax liability. The portions of gains and distributions that are not characterized as excess distributions are subject to tax in the current year under the normal tax rules of the Code.

A United States person who inherits shares or ADSs in a foreign corporation that was a PFIC in the hands of the decedent (who did not make either of the elections described above), is denied the otherwise available step-up in the tax basis of such shares or ADSs to fair market value at the date of death. The U.S. person steps into the shoes of the decedent and will be subject to the rules described above.

We believe that in 2002 we were not a PFIC and currently we expect that we will not be a PFIC in 2003. However, PFIC status is determined as of the end of the taxable year and is dependent on a number of factors, including the value of our assets and the amount and type of our gross income. Therefore, there can be no assurance that we will not become a PFIC for the current fiscal year ending December 31, 2003 or in a future year. We will notify United States holders in the event we conclude that we will be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year to enable United States holders to consider whether or not to elect to treat us as a QEF for United States federal income tax purposes or to mark-to-market the ordinary shares or ADSs or to become subject to the excess distribution regime.

United States holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the application of the PFIC rules, including eligibility for and the manner and advisability of making, the QEF election or the mark-to-market election.

A United States holder generally is subject to information reporting and may be subject to backup withholding at rate of up to 28% with respect to dividend payments and receipt of the proceeds from the disposition of the ordinary shares or ADSs. Backup withholding will not apply with respect to payments made to exempt recipients, including corporations and tax-exempt organizations, or if a United States holder provides a correct taxpayer identification number (or certifies that he has applied for a taxpayer identification number), certifies that such holder is not subject to backup withholding or otherwise establishes an exemption. Backup withholding is not an additional tax and may be claimed as a credit against the United States federal income tax liability of a United States holder, or alternatively, the United States holder may be eligible for a refund of any excess amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules, in either case, provided that the required information is furnished to the Internal Revenue Service.

Non-United States holders of Ordinary Shares or ADSs

Except as provided below, a non-United States holder of ordinary shares or ADSs (except certain former United States citizens and long-term residents of the United States) will not be subject to United States federal income or withholding tax on the receipt of dividends on, and the proceeds from the disposition of, an ordinary share or ADS, unless that item is effectively connected with the conduct by the non-United States holder of a trade or business in the United States and, in the case of a resident of a country which has an income tax treaty with the United States, that item is attributable to a permanent establishment in the United States or, in the case of an individual, a fixed place of business in the United States. In addition, gain recognized by an individual non-United States holder will be subject to tax in the United States if the non-United States holder is present in the United States for 183 days or more in the taxable year of the sale and other conditions are met.

Non-United States holders will not be subject to information reporting or backup withholding with respect to the payment of dividends on ordinary shares or ADSs unless the payment is made through a paying agent, or an office of a paying agent, in the United States. Non-United States holders will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding at a rate of up to 28% with respect to the payment within the United States of dividends on the ordinary shares or ADSs unless the holder provides its taxpayer identification number, certifies to its foreign status, or otherwise establishes an exemption.

Non-United States holders will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding at a rate of up to 28% on the receipt of the proceeds from the disposition of the ordinary shares or ADSs to, or through, the United States office of a broker, whether domestic or foreign, unless the holder provides a taxpayer identification number, certifies to its foreign status or otherwise establishes an exemption. Non-United States holders will not be subject to information reporting or backup withholding with respect to the receipt of proceeds from the disposition of the ordinary shares or ADSs by a foreign office of a broker; provided, however, that if the broker is a U.S. person or a U.S. related person, information reporting (but not backup withholding) will apply unless the broker has documentary evidence in its records of the non-United States holder's foreign status or the non-United States holder certifies to its foreign status under penalties of perjury or otherwise establishes an exemption. For this purpose, a U.S. related person is a broker or other intermediary that maintains one or more enumerated U.S. relationships. Backup withholding is not an additional tax and may be claimed as a credit against the United States federal income tax liability of a non-United States holder, or alternatively, the non-United States holder may be eligible for a refund of any excess amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules, in either case, provided that the required information is furnished to the Internal Revenue Service.

We are subject to the informational requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, applicable to foreign private issuers and fulfill the obligations with respect to such requirements by filing reports with the Securities and Exchange Commission. You may read and copy any document we file with the Securities and Exchange Commission without charge at the Securities and Exchange Commission's public reference room at 450 Fifth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of such material may be obtained by mail from the Public Reference Branch of the Securities and Exchange Commission at such address, at prescribed rates. Please call the Securities and Exchange Commission at 1-800-SEC-0330 for further information on the public reference room.

As a foreign private issuer, we are exempt from the rules under the Exchange Act prescribing the furnishing and content of proxy statements, and our officers, directors and principal shareholders are exempt from the reporting and short-swing profit recovery provisions contained in Section 16 of the Exchange Act. In addition, we are not required under the Exchange Act to file periodic reports and financial statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission as frequently or as promptly as United States companies whose securities are registered under the Exchange Act. However we intend to file with the Securities and Exchange Commission, within 180 days after the end of each fiscal year, an annual report on Form 20-F containing financial statements which will be examined and reported on, with an opinion expressed, by an independent public accounting firm, as well as reports on Form 6-K containing unaudited financial information for the first three quarters of each fiscal year, within 60 days after the end of each such quarter.

ITEM 11. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISKS

The majority of our assets are comprised of (i) cash and cash equivalents, in NIS and in dollars, and (ii) holdings of securities of our subsidiaries. We are exposed to the risk of currency exchange rate fluctuations and the impacts of inflation. In addition, we are exposed to the risk of fluctuations in the market price of securities of companies we hold.

Currency Exchange Rate Fluctuations and Impact of Inflation

In light of the nature of our activities, we invest our cash and cash equivalents in short term deposits. As of December 31, 2002, we invested approximately 56% of the cash we held in dollar accounts and the remainder 44% in NIS accounts.

An increase in value of the NIS against the dollar (after taking into account the rate of inflation or deflation in Israel) may have a negative impact on our operating results and financial condition. In particular, our finance expenses may increase. Depending upon the circumstances, we will consider entering into currency hedging transactions to decrease the risk of financial exposure from fluctuations in the exchange rate of the dollar against the NIS. There can be no assurance that these activities, or others that we may use from time to time, will eliminate the negative financial impact of currency fluctuations and inflation.

We do not engage in currency speculation. Generally, we do not hold nor have we issued, to any material extent, any derivatives or other financial instruments for trading purposes.

We include the gains and losses related to foreign currency transactions in the statement of income in the period in which the changes in the exchange rates occur.

Fluctuations in Market Price of Securities We Hold

We hold securities of several publicly traded companies on the Nasdaq National Market and the TASE. These companies include Magic, Crystal, Matrix and Sapiens. We consider these holdings as long-term holdings. We are exposed to the risk of fluctuation of the price of these companies' securities. All of these publicly traded companies have experienced significant historical volatility in their stock prices. Fluctuations in the market price of our holdings in these companies may result in the fluctuation of the value of our assets. We typically do not attempt to reduce or eliminate our market exposure on these securities.

Independent Auditors' Report

To the Shareholders of

FORMULA SYSTEMS (1985) LTD.

We have audited the consolidated balance sheets of Formula Systems (1985) Ltd. and its subsidiaries (the "Company") as of December 31, 2002 and 2001 and the consolidated statements of income, changes in shareholders' equity and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2002. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We did not audit the financial statements of certain subsidiaries, whose assets included in consolidation constitute approximately 30% and 18.54% of total consolidated assets as of December 31, 2001 and 2002, respectively, and whose revenues included in consolidation constitute approximately 21%, 30% and 21.82% of total consolidated revenues for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively. The financial statements of those subsidiaries were audited by other auditors, whose reports have been furnished to us, and our opinion, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for those subsidiaries is based solely on the reports of the other auditors. We did not audit an equity investee of the Company, insofar as it relates to that investment and its operation income, is based on the reports of the other auditor.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits and the reports of the other independent auditors provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, based on our audits and the reports of other auditors the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2002 and 2001, and the related consolidated results of its operations and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2002, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

As disclosed in Note 1.A. to the financial statements, the Company has changed its method of reporting from principles of accounting generally accepted in Israel to those generally accepted in the United States. In addition, the Company has adopted the U.S. dollar as its reporting currency.

As discussed in Note 1.H. to the consolidated financial statements, effective January 1, 2002, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets".

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (cont.):A. General (cont.):*Change in Accounting

On 2002 the company adopted U.S. GAAP and prepared accordingly its financial statements. All the consolidated financial statements for the periods presented have been restated to comply with U.S. GAAP. Under U.S. GAAP the company couldn't use a price adopted currency (as used before) and start to use as its functional currency the nominal New Israeli Shekel (NIS).

Accounting Principles

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted (GAAP) in the United States.

Functional and Reporting Currency

The currency of the primary economic environment in which the operations of the Company and most of its subsidiaries are conducted is nominal NIS. The functional currency of the remaining subsidiaries is the U.S. dollar (dollar). The Company elected to use, as its reporting currency, the dollar.

The Financial Statement of the Company and most of its Subsidiaries whose functional currency is NIS have been translated to dollars under the principles described in Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 52. Assets and liabilities have been translated at period-end exchange rates. Results of operations have been translated at the exchange rate at the dates on which those transactions occur or at average exchange rates. Differences resulting from translation are presented under shareholder s equity in the item accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Thus, subsidiaries whose functional currency is the dollar, their financial statement is presented in the consolidation, at their original amounts.

Use of Estimates and Assumptions in the Preparation of the Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the dates of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

B. Principles of Consolidation:

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and all of its subsidiaries in which it has a controlling interest. Intercompany transactions and balances were eliminated in consolidation.

As to goodwill - see Note 1.H. Investments in other companies are accounted for under the cost method. Investments are periodically reviewed to determine whether an other-than-temporary impairment in value has occurred, in which case the investment is written down to its fair value.

The inventory is mainly constituted of hardware.

Inventory is valued at the lower of cost or market value. Cost is determined on the first in - first out basis.

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (cont.):

H. Goodwill:

Goodwill reflects the excess of the purchase price of subsidiaries acquired over the fair value of net assets acquired. Until December 31, 2001 goodwill was amortized in equal annual installments, over period of 10 years. In the event it was determined that goodwill is not recoverable, its book value was written off and charged to the statement of operation as goodwill impairment.

In July 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets (SFAS 142). SFAS 142 requires goodwill to be tested for impairment on an annual basis and between annual tests in certain circumstances, and written down when impaired, rather than being amortized as previous accounting standards required. Furthermore, SFAS 142 requires purchased intangible assets other than goodwill to be amortized over their useful lives unless these lives are determined to be indefinite.

SFAS 142 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2001. In accordance with SFAS 142, the Company ceased amortizing goodwill totaling $105 million as of the beginning of 2002 ($115 million to the end of 2002). As of January 1 the Company has completed the transitional impairment review of goodwill. Based on the impairment tests performed, there was no impairment of goodwill on January 1, 2002. The Company has selected December 31st as the date on which it will perform its annual goodwill impairment test. As of December 31, 2002, no impairment was required. There can be no assurance that future goodwill impairment tests will not result in a charge to earnings.

The following table presents the impact of SFAS 142 on net income (loss) and net income (loss) per share had the accounting standard been in effect for 2002, 2001 and 2000 (in thousands except per-share amounts):

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (cont.):

I. Software Development Costs:

Development costs of software that is intended for sale that were incurred after the establishment of technological feasibility of the relevant product, are capitalized. Technological feasibility is determined when detailed program design is completed and verified in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 86 of the FASB.

Software development costs incurred before technological feasibility is established are charged to the statement of income as incurred. Amortization of capitalized software development costs begins when the product is available for general release to customers. Annual amortization is computed by the straight-line method, over the remaining useful life of the product or based on the ratio of current gross revenues to current and anticipated future gross revenues, whichever is higher. Currently, amortization is computed by the straight-line method, mainly over a period of 3 years. During the year ended December 31, 2002, a consolidated subsidiaries capitalized software development costs aggregating $4.4 million (2001 - $9.9 million, 2000 - $13 million) and amortized capitalized software development costs aggregating $5.1 million (2001 - $6.6 million, 2000 - $0.9 million).

In management's estimate, total capitalized costs do not exceed the net realizable value of the software product.

In the event that unamortized software development costs exceed the net realizable value of the product, they are written down to net realizable value.

J. Impairment in value of long-lived assets:

On January 1, 2002, the Company adopted SFAS 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. SFAS 144 requires that long-lived assets, to be held and used by an entity, be reviewed for impairment and, if necessary, written down to the estimated fair values, whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the assets may not be recoverable through undiscounted future cash flows. The adoption of SFAS 144 did not have a material effect on the financial position and results of operations of the Company.

K. Revenue Recognition:

Revenues derived from direct software license agreements are recognized in accordance with Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2 Software Revenue Recognition (as amended by SOP 98-4 and SOP 98-9), upon delivery of the software when collection is probable, the license fee is otherwise fixed or determinable and persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists.

When a project involves significant modification of software, revenue is generally recognized according to the percentage of completion method. Under this method, estimated revenue is generally accrued based on costs incurred to date as a percentage of total updated estimated costs.

As of December 31, 2002 no such estimated losses were identified. and (ii) with respect to fixed fee contracts, based upon the percentage of completion method. The Company recognizes contract losses, if any, in the period in which they first become evident.

Revenues from contractual maintenance contract and training are recognized relatively over the contract period.

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (cont.):

O. Deferred Income Taxes:

The Company applies the provisions of SFAS 109 Accounting for Income Taxes of the FASB, see also Note 15.E.

P. Earnings (Loss) Per Share:

Earnings (loss) per share (EPS) were computed in accordance with provisions of SFAS No. 128 of the FASB (SFAS 128). SFAS 128 requires the presentation of both basic and diluted EPS.

Basic net earnings (loss) per share is computed based on the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during each year. Diluted earnings (loss) per share is computed based on the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during each year, plus dilative potential common shares considered outstanding during the year.

Q. Company shares held by the Company:

Company shares held by the Company are presented as a reduction of shareholders equity, at their cost to the Company, under cost of Company shares held by the Company. Gains and losses on sale of these shares, net of related income taxes, are carried to additional paid-in capital and to return earnings respectively.

R. Concentration of credit risks - allowance for doubtful accounts:

Most of the Group s cash and cash equivalents and short-term investment as of December 31, 2002 and 2001 were deposited with Israeli U.S. and European banks. The Company is of the opinion that the credit risk in respect of these balances is remote.

Most of the Group s sales are made in Israel, North America and Europe, to a large number of customers.

In general, the exposure to the concentration of credit risks relating to trade receivables is limited, due to the relatively large number of customers. The Group performs ongoing credit evaluations of its customers for the purpose of determining the appropriate allowance for doubtful accounts. An appropriate allowance for doubtful accounts is included in the accounts.

The allowance for doubtful accounts charged to general and administrative expenses amounted to $2.8 million, $3.8 million and $0.98 million in 2002, 2001 and 2000, respectively, and has been determined for specific debts doubtful of collection.

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (cont.):

S. Options granted to employees:

The Company accounts for its Employee Stock Option Plans using the treatment prescribed by Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees (APB 25) and FASB issued Interpretation No. 44, Accounting for Certain Transactions Involving Stock Compensation (FIN 44). Under APB 25, compensation cost for employee stock option plans is measured using the intrinsic value based method of accounting.

In October 1995, the FASB issued Statement No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation (SFAS 123). This Statement, effective as of the 1997 financial statements, established a fair value based method of accounting for an employee stock option or similar equity instrument, and encourages adoption of such method for stock compensation plans. SFAS 148 Accounting for stock based compensation amended SFAS 123 to provide alternative methods of transition for a voluntary change to the fair value based method of accounting for such plans.

However, it also allows companies to account for those plans, with respect to options granted to employees, using the accounting treatment prescribed by APB 25.

Edgar Filing: FORMULA SYSTEMS \1985\ LTD - Form 20-F

The Company has elected to account for share option plans according to APB 25 and FASB interpretation No. 44 and has accordingly complied with the disclosure requirements set forth in SFAS 123 for companies electing to apply APB 25.

Compensation cost was charged to income in 2002, 2001 and 2000 in respect of such plans in the net amount of $239 thousand, $2,817 thousand and $1,429 thousand respectively. Had compensation cost for the Company's plans been determined based on the fair value at the grant date, consistent with the method of SFAS 123 as amended by SFAS 148, the Company's net income and earnings per share would have been decreased to the pro-forma amounts indicated below:

The recognition provisions of FIN 45 are applicable on a prospective basis to guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002. The Company does not expect the adoption of FIN 45 to have a material effect on its consolidated financial statements.

FIN 46:

In January 2003, the FASB issued FIN No. 46, Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities. FIN 46 classifies entities into two groups: (1) those for which voting interests are used to determine consolidation; and (2) those for which other interests (variable interests) are used to determine consolidation. Note 13 - Shareholders Equity (cont.):

- C. Dividends:
- Formula has not paid any cash dividends on its ordinary shares in the past and does not expect to pay cash dividends on its ordinary shares in the foreseeable future.
 - In August 2001 the Company distributed its investments in Formula Vision to its shareholders as a dividend in kind (see Note 2.H).
- D. Warrant issued:

On May 30, 2002 the Company consummated a public offering in Israel of debentures. Options to purchase an aggregate of 2 million of Formula's ordinary shares were attached to the debentures (see Note 2.L).

Note 14 - Financial Instruments and Monetary Balances in Non-dollar Currency:

A. Management of credit risks:

Financial instruments which have the potential to expose the Company to credit risks are mainly cash and cash equivalents, marketable securities, bank deposit accounts, trade receivables and other receivables.

The Company holds cash and cash equivalents, marketable securities and deposit accounts at large banks in Israel and in the United States.

Regarding trade receivables, the Company believes that there is not a material credit risk in light of the large number of customers, as well as due to the fact that a large part of its major customers are from the public sector.

B. Fair value of financial instruments:

The financial instruments of the Company consist mainly of cash and cash equivalents, short term investments, trade receivables, loans, debentures and other long term investments, credit from banks, accounts payable and long term liabilities to banks and others.

In view of their nature, the fair value of the financial instruments included in the Company's working capital is usually identical or close to their carrying value.

The fair value of the long term assets and liabilities mentioned above also approximates their carrying value, since they bear interest at rates close to the prevailing market rates.

C. Other risks:

1. The price risk includes the mainly consists of the fluctuation in value of trade receivables due to changes in exchange rates.
2. One of the Company major assets is comprised of debentures issued to the Company by Formula Vision, in December 2001 and March 2002, in connection with the sale of private companies held by the Company to Formula Vision. The aggregate amount of the debentures, as of December 31, 2002 is $76 million. The Company evaluates, periodically, the quality of the indebtedness, the financial strength of Formula Vision and its ability to meet the repayment schedule of the loan. However, in the event that Formula Vision fails to repay the loan under the terms of the debentures, the financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

Note 15 - Taxes on Income:

A. Tax Laws in Israel:

1. Law for the Encouragement of Capital Investments, 1959:

Pursuant to the provisions of the said law, certain subsidiaries are eligible for tax benefits resulting from implementation of programs for investment in assets, in accordance with the letters of approval they received (approved enterprises), which grant them the right to exemption from tax for periods ranging between two and four years and subsequent to such periods - to tax at a reduced rate of 25% on income derived from the approved enterprise, subject to fulfillment of the conditions stipulated in the letter of approval.

The period in which the said subsidiaries will enjoy the tax exemption or reduced tax rate is limited in each letter of approval to seven years from the first year in which taxable income is earned. If the percentage of a subsidiary s share capital held by foreign shareholders exceeds 25%, the subsidiary will be entitled to reduced tax rates for a further three years.

If the companies distribute dividends out of the income of the approved enterprise, they will be subject to tax at the rate of 25% on the distributed income. The Company intends to permanently reinvest the amounts of tax-exempt income and it does not intend to cause distribution of such dividends, therefore, no deferred income taxes have been provided in respect of such tax-exempt income.

1. Law for the Encouragement of Capital Investments, 1959 (cont.):

In the event of distribution of a cash dividend by subsidiaries, out of retained earnings which were tax exempt due to the above benefits, Formula Group would have to pay approximately $6.2 million tax in respect of the amount distributed. Deferred taxes for such taxes were not provided because such undistributed earnings are essentially permanent in duration and could be distributed to shareholders tax free in liquidation, subject to certain conditions.

2. Tax benefits under the Law for the Encouragement of Industry (Taxation), 1969:

Certain subsidiaries currently qualify as Industrial Companies as defined by this law. As such, they are entitled to certain tax benefits including, mainly, the right to deduct for tax purposes expenses relating to the public issue of shares, over a period of 3 years.

3. Taxation under inflationary conditions:

The Company and some of its subsidiaries are subject to the Income Tax Law (Inflationary Adjustments), 1985, which instituted the measurement of the results for tax purposes on a real (inflation-adjusted) basis. The various adjustments required under this law are intended to adjust the nominal results for tax purposes to NIS of the end of the year (according to the changes in the Index). Some subsidiaries report their income in dollars in accordance with income tax regulations.

4. Recent Israeli Tax Reform Legislation:

In July 2002, the Israeli parliament approved a law enacting extensive changes to Israel's tax law generally effective January 1, 2003 (the Tax Reform Legislation). Among the key provisions of the Tax Reform Legislation as applicable to Formula Group is the introduction of the controlled foreign corporation concept according to which an Israeli company may become subject to Israeli taxes on certain income of a non-Israeli subsidiary if the subsidiary's primary source of income is passive income (such as interest, dividends, royalties, rental income or capital gains). An Israeli company that is subject to Israeli taxes on the income of its non-Israeli subsidiaries will receive a credit for income taxes paid by the subsidiary in its country of residence.

5. Tax rates:

The tax rate used for computing the provision for current taxes is 36%, with the exception of approved enterprises - see 1. above.

B. Subsidiaries outside Israel:

Subsidiaries that are not Israeli resident are taxed in the countries where they are resident, according to the tax laws in the respective countries.

General:

Sapiens International Corporation N.V. (the Company), which operates through its worldwide subsidiaries, is a provider of rapidly deployed business software solutions that support its clients' core business processes, such as insurance claims processing, loan/mortgage management and other key business solutions. These solutions, which are based on the Sapiens eMerge technology, consist primarily of rapid application development (RAD), integration of legacy systems into new applications and technologies, mapping and management of enterprise IT assets, and reengineering services.

The Company focuses on the insurance industry, and is in the process of developing customizable component-based solutions for insurance claim processing, closed-books administration, policy administration and multi-channel connectivity. The Company also provides a specialized solution for the migration of European IT systems to the Euro currency.

Restructuring costs:

In 2000, the Company recorded restructuring charges of approximately $ 2.6 million which was accrued as a short-term liability as of December 31, 2000 and were paid in 2001. The restructuring costs consist of employee termination benefits associated with involuntary terminations of approximately 250 employees. The terminations resulted from the Company's strategy to reduce costs and restore profitability.

In 2002, the Company recorded restructuring charges at approximately $ 0.5 million, all of which was paid in 2002. The restructuring costs consist of employee termination benefits associated with the involuntary termination of approximately 40 employees, accounted for in accordance with EITF 94-3, Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (Including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring) (EITF 94-3) and SAB 100, Restructuring and Impairment Charges (SAB 100). The terminations resulted from the Company's strategy to reduce costs and restore profitability.

c. Investment in eZoneXchange:

In April 2000, the Company completed a private placement of 600,000 shares of Common stock (investor's shares) of its wholly-owned subsidiary, eZoneXchange.com, Inc. (eZoneXchange), for $ 15 million. The investor also received a warrant to purchase an additional 2.25% of the Common stock of eZoneXchange at the same private placement share price of $ 25 per share. As part of the transaction, the Company entered into a Put and Call Option agreement pursuant to which the investors were granted the right (exercisable in whole or in part) to cause the Company during the put option exercise period (May 4, 2004 through May 3, 2005) to repurchase the investor's shares at the principal amount of the investor's investment plus 5% annual interest accrued thereon from May 4, 2000.

SAPIENS INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION N.V.
AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

The Put and Call agreement provides that 50% of the consideration for the investor's shares will be paid in cash and 50% in Sapiens' Common shares to be valued according to the average closing market price of Sapiens' Common share over the 14 day trading period preceding the date of issuance of the Put consideration. The agreement also included a call option which grants the Company the option to purchase the investor's shares at a price of $ 30 million in the first two years after the investment date, $ 37.5 million in the third year, and $ 45 million in the fourth year. The purchase price will be multiplied by the percentage of shares purchased. The exercise period will last until the earlier of the fourth anniversary of the investment, an acquisition of, or an IPO of eZoneXchange.

The amount of $15 million was accounted for as a mezzanine item under redeemable shares in a subsidiary, net of issuance expenses.

During February 2001, the Company decided to close the operations of eZoneXchange.com Inc. In February 2001, the Company repurchased 173,100 of the investor's shares with a cash repayment of $ 4.5 million for principal and interest, according to an amendment to the Put and Call Option agreement. As a result, the amount of the principal portion of the redeemable shares in a subsidiary to be repaid in cash was decreased by $ 4.2 million, net of expenses. In addition, in accordance with the amendment, if the market price of Sapiens Common share reaches $ 10 per share, the investors will have the right to put 192,333 shares of its eZoneXchange stock in return for 363,776 Sapiens Common shares at a price of $ 13.75 per share. No interest is accrued for the amended portion of the investment. The remaining portion of the investment to be repaid in shares (approximately $ 2.5 million) and the portion to be paid in cash (approximately $ 3 million) will continue to be subject to the original terms of the Put and Call Option agreement.

The results of eZoneXchange were consolidated with the results of the Company starting from April 2000.

NOTE 2: SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (U.S. GAAP).

a. Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

b. Financial statements in U.S. dollars:

A substantial portion of the Company s financing is made in U.S. dollars (dollar). In addition, a substantial portion of the Company s and certain of its subsidiaries costs is incurred in dollars. A majority of the revenues of the Company and certain of its subsidiaries is generated in dollars. Company s management believes that the dollar is the primary currency of the economic environment in which the Company and those subsidiaries operate. Thus, the functional and reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is the dollar.

Accordingly, monetary accounts maintained in currencies other than the dollar are remeasured into U.S. dollars in accordance with Statement of the Financial Accounting Standard Board No. 52, Foreign Currency Translation (SFAS No. 52). All transaction gains and losses of the re-measurement of monetary balance sheet items are reflected in the statements of operations as financial income or expenses as appropriate.

The financial statements of foreign subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, have been translated into U.S. dollars. All balance sheet accounts have been translated using the exchange rates in effect at the balance sheet date. Statements of operations amounts have been translated using the average exchange rate for the period. The resulting translation adjustments are reported as accumulated other comprehensive income (loss), in shareholders equity.

Foreign currency translation differences included in the financial income (loss) amounted to approximately $ (210,000), $ (1,549,000) and $ 160,000 for 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively.

c. Principles of consolidation:

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its majority-owned subsidiaries. Intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated upon consolidation.

d. Cash equivalents:

Cash equivalents consist of interest-bearing demand deposits, money market funds and highly liquid debt instruments originally purchased with a maturity of three months or less.

e. Short-term bank deposits:

Bank deposits with maturities of more than three months but less than one year are included in short-term bank deposits. Such bank deposits are stated at cost.

f. Marketable securities:

Management determines the proper classification of investments in marketable debt and equity securities at the time of purchase and reevaluates such designations as of each balance sheet date. All securities covered by Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 115, Accounting for Certain Investments in Debt and Equity Securities (SFAS No. 115), were designated as available-for-sale. Accordingly, these securities are stated at fair value, with unrealized gains and losses reported in a separate component of shareholders' equity, accumulated other comprehensive loss. Realized gains and losses on sales of investments, as determined on a specific identification basis, are included in the consolidated statement of operations.

g. Property and equipment:

Property and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets:

Equipment and furniture	4 - 15 years
Computer equipment and software	3 - 5 years
Motor vehicles	3 - 7 years
Leasehold improvements	(Over the shorter of the term of the lease or the estimated useful life of the asset)

The Company periodically assesses the recoverability of the carrying amount of property and equipment and provides for any possible impairment loss based upon the difference between the carrying amount and fair value of such assets, in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 144 Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets (SFAS No. 144). As of December 31, 2002, no impairment losses have been identified.

h. Impairment of long-lived assets:

The Company's long-lived assets and certain identifiable intangibles are reviewed for impairment in accordance with SFAS No. 144 Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset to the future undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the assets. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets. Assets to be disposed of are reported at the lower of the carrying amount or fair value less costs to sell.

i. Capitalized software development costs:

Research and development costs incurred in the process of developing new products or product improvements, are charged to expense as incurred, net of participation by the Office of the Chief Scientist in Israel's Ministry of Industry and Trade (the OCS).

F - 14

SAPIENS INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION N.V.
AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 86 Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software to be Sold, Leased or Otherwise Marketed (SFAS No. 86), requires capitalization of certain software development costs subsequent to the establishment of technological feasibility. Based on the Company's product development process, technological feasibility is established upon completion of a detailed program design.

Capitalized software costs are amortized by the greater of the amount computed using: (i) the ratio that current gross revenues from sales of the software bear to the total of current and anticipated future gross revenues from sales of that software, or (ii) the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the software product (three to five years). The Company assesses the recoverability of this intangible asset on a regular basis by determining whether the amortization of the asset over its remaining life can be recovered through undiscounted future operating cash flows from the specific software product sold. Based on its most recent analyses, management believes that no impairment of capitalized software development costs exists as at December 31, 2002.

j. Goodwill:

Goodwill represents the excess of the costs over the net assets of businesses acquired. Goodwill that arose from acquisitions prior to July 1, 2001, was amortized until December 31, 2001, on a straight-line basis over 3.5 to 10 years. In accordance with SFAS No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets (SFAS No. 142) the Company ceased amortizing the goodwill as of January 1, 2002.

SFAS No. 142 requires goodwill to be tested for impairment on adoption and at least annually thereafter or between annual tests in certain circumstances, and written down when impaired, rather than being amortized as previous accounting standards required. Goodwill is tested for impairment by comparing the fair value of each of the Company's reporting units with its carrying value. Fair values are determined using discounted cash flows. Significant estimates used in the methodologies include estimates of future cash flows, future short-term and long-term growth rates, weighted average cost of capital and estimates of market multiples.

During 2001, prior to the adoption of SFAS No. 142 by the Company, an impairment of goodwill was recorded in accordance with SFAS No. 121, Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets and for Long-Lived Assets to be Disposed Of (SFAS No. 121) in the amount of $204,000, which was included in the marketing, selling, general and administrative expenses.

k. Intangible assets:

Intangible assets that arose prior to July 1, 2001, and are stated at cost less accumulated amortization. Amortization is computed using the straight-line method as follows:

Prepaid royalties	15 years
Distribution rights	7 years
Technology, usage rights and other intangible assets	5-8 years

SAPIENS INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION N.V.
AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

Before the adoption of SFAS No. 144 the Company evaluated the recoverability of long-lived assets annually and the appropriateness of the amortization period based on the estimated future undiscounted cash flows derived from the asset. In 2001, such impairments were indicated and the Company recognized impairment loss in the amount of $519,000, which was included in the marketing, selling, general and administrative expenses

As of December 31, 2002, no impairment losses have been identified.

l. Revenue recognition:

Product revenues include implementation services contracts (which include the sale of software technology and services) and software license sales.

Revenues from implementation services contracts are recognized based on Statement of Opinion No. 81-1 Accounting for Performance of Construction-Type and Certain Production -Type Contracts (SOP No. 81-1), using contract accounting on a percentage of completion method based on the relationship of actual costs incurred to total costs estimated to be incurred over the duration of the contract. Provisions for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts are made in the period in which such losses are first determined, in the amount of the estimated loss on the entire contract. As of December 31, 2002, no such estimated losses were identified.

Revenues earned under software licensing agreements with end-users are recognized when all criteria outlined in Statement of Position No. 97-2 Software Revenue Recognition (SOP No. 97-2) (as amended) are met. Revenues from license fees are recognized when persuasive evidence of an agreement exists, delivery of the product has occurred, no significant obligations with regard to implementation remain, the fee is fixed or determinable and collectibility is probable.

The Company and its subsidiaries do not grant rights of return.

Where software arrangements involve multiple elements, revenues are allocated to each element based on vendor specific objective evidence (VSOE) of the relative fair values of each element in the arrangement, in accordance with the residual method prescribed by Statement of Opinion No. 98-9. Modification of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition With Respect to Certain Transactions (SOP No. 98-9). The Company's VSOE used to allocate the sales price to consulting, training and maintenance is based on the price charged when these elements are sold separately. License revenues are recorded based on the residual method.

Under the residual method, revenue is recognized for the delivered elements when (1) there is VSOE of the fair values of all the undelivered elements other than those accounted for using long-term contract accounting, and (2) all revenue recognition criteria of SOP 97-2, as amended, are satisfied.

Consulting and other services revenues also include training and post-contract maintenance services. Revenues from consulting, maintenance and training services are recognized ratably over the contractual period or as services are performed.

Deferred revenues include amounts received from customers for which revenues have not yet been recognized.

m. Advertising expenses:

Advertising expenses are charged to the statement of operations as incurred.

n. Government grants:

Royalty-bearing grants from the Government of Israel for the funding of research and development projects are recognized at the time the Company is entitled to such grants on the basis of the related costs incurred, and are recorded as a reduction of research and development costs.

o. Income taxes:

The Company and its subsidiaries account for income taxes in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes (SFAS No. 109). This Statement prescribes the use of the liability method whereby deferred tax assets and liability account balances are determined based on the differences between financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities and are measured using the enacted tax rates and laws that will be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse. The Company and its subsidiaries provide a valuation allowance, if necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to their estimated realizable value.

p. Concentrations of credit risk:

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company and certain of its subsidiaries to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, marketable securities, short-term deposits, and trade receivables. The Company's cash, cash equivalents and short-term deposits are invested in deposits with major international financial institutions. Such deposits in the United States may be in excess of insured limits and are not insured in other jurisdictions. Management believes that the financial institutions that hold the Company's investments are financially sound and, accordingly, minimal credit risk exists with respect to these investments.

The Company's trade receivables are derived from sales to large and solid organizations located mainly in Europe, North America and Israel. The Company performs ongoing credit evaluations of its customers and has established an allowance for doubtful accounts based upon factors surrounding the credit risk of specific customers and other information. In certain circumstances, the Company may require letters of credit, other collateral or additional guarantees.

The Company's marketable securities include investments in debentures of non-U.S. Corporations. Management believes that those Corporations are financially sound, and accordingly, minimal credit risk exists with respect to these marketable securities.

Fair value of financial instruments:

The estimated fair value of financial instruments has been determined by the Company using available market information and valuation methodologies. Considerable judgment is required in estimating fair values. Accordingly, the estimates may not be indicative of the amounts the Company could realize in a current market exchange. The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, short-term deposits, marketable securities, trade accounts receivables, short-term bank credit and trade accounts payable approximate their fair values due to the short-term maturity of such instruments.

The carrying amounts of the Company's long-term borrowings arrangements approximate their fair value. Fair values were estimated using discounted cash flow analyses, based on prevailing market borrowing rates.

Derivative and hedging:

The Company accounts for derivatives and hedging based on Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities" as amended (SFAS No. 133). SFAS 133 requires companies to recognize all of its derivative instruments on the balance sheet at fair value. The accounting for changes in the fair value of a derivative instrument depends on whether it has been designated and qualifies as part of a hedging relationship and further, on the type of hedging relationship. For those derivative instruments that are designated and qualify as hedging instruments, a company must designate the hedging instrument, based upon the exposure being hedged, as a fair value hedge, cash flow hedge or a hedge of a net investment in a foreign operation.

For derivative instruments that are designated and qualify as a fair value hedge, the gain or loss on the derivative instrument as well as the offsetting loss or gain on the hedged item attributable to the hedged risk are recognized in the same line item associated with the hedged item in current earnings during the period of the change in fair values.

The Company enters into forward exchange contracts to hedge certain transactions denominated in foreign currencies. The purpose of the Company's foreign currency hedging activities is to protect the Company from risk that the eventual dollar cash flows from international activities will be adversely affected by changes in the exchange rates. The Company's forward contracts did not qualify as hedging instruments under SFAS No. 133. Changes in the fair value of forward contracts are reflected in the statement of operations as financial income or expense.

- s. Basic and diluted net earnings (loss) per share:

Basic net earnings (loss) per share is calculated based on the weighted average number of Common shares outstanding during each year including contingent shares. Diluted net earnings per share is computed based on the weighted average number of Common shares outstanding during each year, plus dilutive potential Common shares considered outstanding during the year, in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 128, Earnings Per Share (SFAS No. 128).

In 2000, 2001 and 2002, all convertible Preferred shares, outstanding stock options, convertible subordinate notes and warrants have been excluded from the calculation of the diluted net loss per Common share because all such securities were anti-dilutive for the period presented. The total weighted average number of shares related to the outstanding convertible Preferred shares, options and warrants excluded from the calculations of diluted net loss per share was 1,510,658, 3,265,349 and 3,892,357 for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively.

- t. Stock-based compensation:

The Company has elected to follow Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25 Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees (APB No. 25) and FASB Interpretation No. 44 Accounting for Certain Transactions Involving Stock Compensation (FIN No. 44) in accounting for its employee stock option plans. Under APB No. 25, when the exercise price of the Company's share options is less than the market price of the underlying shares on the date of grant, compensation expense is recognized.

Under Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 123 Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation (SFAS No. 123), pro forma information regarding net income (loss) and net earnings (losses) per share is required as if the Company had accounted for its employee stock options under the fair value method of that Statement. The fair value for these options was estimated at the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following weighted-average assumptions for 2000, 2001 and 2002: risk-free interest rates of 6.5%, 2.5% and 2% respectively, dividend yields of 0% for each year, volatility factors of the expected market price of the Company's Common shares of 0.867, 0.82 and 0.97 respectively and a weighted-average expected life of the options of 6 years for each year.

The weighted-average fair value of the options at their grant dates in 2000, 2001 and 2002 was $ 7.15, $ 3.45 and $ 4.48, respectively. All options were granted at the fair market value at the date of grant.

Expense for contributions made to these plans was $ 1,408,000, $ 1,346,000 and $ 1,243,000 for 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively.

v. Impact of recently issued accounting standards:

In April 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 145, Rescission of SFAS No. 4, 44 and 64, Amendment of SFAS No. 13, and Technical Corrections, (SFAS No. 145) which rescinds SFAS No. 4, Reporting Gains and Losses from Extinguishment of Debt, and an amendment of that Statement, and SFAS No. 64, Extinguishments of Debt Made to Satisfy Sinking-Fund Requirements. SFAS No. 145 amends SFAS No. 44, Accounting for Intangible Assets for Motor Carriers. SFAS No. 145 amends SFAS No. 13, Accounting for Leases, to eliminate an inconsistency between the required accounting for sale-leaseback transactions and the required accounting for certain lease modifications that have economic effects that are similar to sale-leaseback transactions. SFAS No. 145 also amends other existing authoritative pronouncements to make various technical corrections, clarify meanings, or describe their applicability under changed conditions. SFAS No. 145 is effective for fiscal years beginning May 15, 2002. The Company does not expect the adoption of SFAS 145 to have a material impact on the Company's results of operation or financial position.

In June 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 146, Accounting for Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities, (SFAS No. 146) which addresses significant issues regarding the recognition, measurement and reporting of costs associated with exit and disposal activities, including restructuring activities. SFAS No. 146 requires that costs associated with exit or disposal activities be recognized when they are incurred rather than at the date of a commitment to an exit or disposal plan. SFAS No. 146 is effective for all exit or disposal activities initiated after December 31, 2002. The Company does not expect the adoption of SFAS No. 146 to have a material impact on the Company's results of operations or financial position.

In November 2002, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 45 (FIN No. 45), Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others, an interpretation of SFAS No. 5, 57 and 107 and Rescission of FASB Interpretation No. 34 (FIN No. 34). FIN No. 45 elaborates on the disclosures to be made by a guarantor in its interim and annual financial statements about its obligations under certain guarantees that it has issued. It also clarifies that a guarantor is required to recognize, at the inception of a guarantee, a liability for the fair value of the obligation undertaken in issuing the guarantee. FIN No. 45 does not prescribe a specific approach for subsequently measuring the guarantor's recognized liability over the term of the related guarantee. It also incorporates, without change, the guidance in FIN No. 34, Disclosure of Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness to Others, which is being superseded. The disclosure provisions of FIN No. 45 are effective for financial statements of interim or annual periods that end after December 31, 2002 and the provisions for initial recognition and measurement are effective on a prospective basis for guarantees that are issued or modified after December 31, 2002, irrespective of a guarantor's year-end. The Company does not expect the adoption of FIN No. 45 to have a material impact on its results of operations or financial position.

In January 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 (or FIN 46), Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities. FIN 46 requires a variable interest entity to be consolidated by a company if that company is subject to a majority of the risk of loss from the variable interest entity's activities or entitled to receive a majority of the entity's residual returns or both. A variable interest entity is a corporation, partnership, trust, or any other legal structures used for business purposes that either (a) does not have equity investors with voting rights or (b) has equity investors that do not provide sufficient financial resources for the entity to support its activities. A variable interest entity often holds financial assets, including loans or receivables, real estate or other property. A variable interest entity may be essentially passive or it may engage in research and development or other activities on behalf of another company. The consolidation requirements of FIN 46 apply immediately to variable interest entities created after January 31, 2003. The consolidation requirements apply to older entities in the first fiscal year or interim period beginning after June 15, 2003. Certain of the disclosure requirements apply to all financial statements issued after January 31, 2003, regardless of when the variable interest entity was established. The Company is evaluating the possible impact of the new interpretation and does not expect it to have a material effect on its financial position or result of operations.

Short-term debt:

The Company has available unsecured revolving credit line facilities for borrowings of up to a total of $ 24 million as of December 31, 2002, of which $ 16.5 million is available until March 31, 2003 and $ 7.5 million is available until March 31, 2005. (As for the renewal of the credit lines see Note 18). Under the terms of these credit line agreements, the Company and several of its subsidiaries granted floating charges to the banks and issued cross guaranties in support of the credit facilities. Additionally, the Company is required to maintain certain financial ratios. As of December 31, 2002, the Company maintained these financial ratios. Borrowings under these agreements in Euro and U.S. dollars bear interest at rates ranging between the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR) plus 0.75% to plus 1.95% and borrowings in new Israeli shekel (NIS) bear interest at the prime rate of interest in Israel plus 2%. The Company had an unused credit facility in the amount of approximately $12.5 million as of December 31, 2002. As for warrants granted under the credit line agreement, see Note 15j.

A portion of the Company's short-term loans require that the Company pledge cash or short-term investments and record a floating charge as collateral for its borrowings (Note 13).

The Company's claim was in respect of a dispute over the implementation of contracts signed between the parties regarding the above project. While the Company, based on the advice of its legal counsel, believed that the court would rule in its favor and the amounts recorded would be collected, on February 14, 2001 the French court ruled that AGF SI must pay the Company the sum of approximately $3 million. In accordance with SFAS No. 5 Accounting for Contingencies, as a result of the ruling, the Company recorded a provision of $2.4 million for selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses in the fourth quarter of 2000.

Following the French court ruling, AGF SI has filed an appeal to the Court of Appeals of Paris. On January 26, 2002, the Company has filed a counter appeal in reply rejecting the claims presented by AGF SI and claiming an additional amount of approximately $3.5 million in respect with the contract signed between the parties. The Company, based on the advice of its legal counsel, believes that the court will not accept AGF SI's appeal, therefore the Company did not accrue for such potential liability.

- d.

The Company is party to various other legal proceeding and claims that arise in the ordinary course of business in the total amount aggregating to approximately $ 1 million. The Company based on the advise of its legal counsel, has accrued for the expected implication of these proceedings and claims an amount of $ 0.2 million, in accordance with SFAS No. 5.

e. As for tax assessments, see Note 14c.

NOTE 13: SECURITY INTERESTS AND PLEDGES

The Company and several of its subsidiaries granted floating charges to the banks and issued cross guaranties in support of the credit facilities.

All of the Company s leased assets are pledged to the finance companies that provided the lease financing and the banks providing credit lines.

The Company pledged bank guarantees in the amount of $ 0.5 million as security for the rent of its offices in Israel.

NOTE 14: TAXES ON INCOME

a. Net operating losses carryforward:

At December 31, 2002, the Company had net operating loss carryforwards for U.S. federal income tax purposes of approximately $ 7 million and tax credits of $ 0.2 million, which are available to offset future federal taxable income and expire in 2009 to 2020.

Utilization of U.S. net operating losses may be subject to substantial annual limitation due to the change in ownership provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and similar state provisions. The annual limitations may result in the expiration of net operating losses before utilization.

In addition, the Company had a net operating loss carryforwards relating to non-U.S. subsidiaries totaling approximately $ 49.1 million, which are available to offset future taxable income. Generally, a majority of such amounts have no expiration date. However, in some cases, amounts expire in the years 2003 to 2008.

b. Israeli income tax:

Sapiens Technologies Ltd. (hereafter- Technologies), has been granted Approved Enterprise status for six investment programs approved in 1984, 1991, 1993, 1995, 1998 and 2000, by the Israeli Government under the Law for Encouragement of Capital Investments, 1959 (the Law).

Undistributed Israeli income derived from the Approved Enterprise programs entitle Technologies to a tax exemption for a period of two to four years and to a reduced tax rate of 10% - 25% for an additional period of three to eight years (depending on the level of foreign-investment in Technologies). These tax benefits are subject to a limitation of the earlier of twelve years from commencement of operations, or fourteen years from receipt of the approval. Technologies completed the implementation of 1984, 1991, 1993, 1995 and 1998 investment programs. As of December 31, 2002 the Investment Center has granted final approval to the implementation of the 1995 and 1998 plans. Technologies has used all the tax benefits under the 1984 plan and is entitled for additional benefits under the 1991 plan which commenced in 1992 and will expire in 2002, under the 1993 plan the benefits period commenced in 1998 and will expire in 2006 and under the 1995 plan the benefits period commenced in 1998 and will expire in 2008. The benefits have not yet commenced for the 1998 and the 2000 plans.

The law also grants entitlement to claim accelerated depreciation on machinery and equipment used by the Approved Enterprise , during the first five years.

The tax-exempt profits that will be earned by Technologies Approved Enterprises can be distributed to shareholders, without imposing tax liability to Technologies only upon the complete liquidation of Technologies. If these retained tax-exempt profits are distributed in a manner other than in the complete liquidation of Technologies they would be taxed at the corporate tax rate applicable to such profits as if Technologies had not elected the alternative system of benefits (depending on the level of foreign - investment in Technologies) for an Approved Enterprise . Technologies has decided not to declare dividends out of such tax-exempt earnings. Accordingly, no deferred income taxes have been provided on earnings attributable to the Technologies Approved Enterprise .

Income from sources other than the Approved Enterprise during the benefit period is subject to tax at the regular corporate tax rate of 36%.

The entitlement to the above benefits is conditional upon the Company s fulfilling the conditions stipulated by the above law, regulations published thereunder and the instruments of approval for the specific investments in Approved Enterprise . In the event of failure to comply with these conditions, the benefits may be canceled and the Company may be required to refund the amount of the benefits, in whole or in part, including interest.

Results of the Company s Israeli subsidiaries for tax purposes are measured and reflected in real terms in accordance with the changes in the Israeli Customer Price Index (CPI). As explained in Note 2b, the financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars. The difference between the change in the Israel CPI and in the NIS/U.S. dollar exchange rate causes a difference between taxable income or loss and the income or loss reflected in the financial statements. In accordance with paragraph 9(f) of SFAS 109, the Israeli subsidiaries have not provided deferred income taxes on this difference between the reporting currency and the tax bases of assets and liabilities.

Tax assessments

In December 2001, Sapiens Technologies Ltd. and some of the Company s group entities, have reached an agreement with the Israeli Tax Authorities (the ITA) as a result of a tax assessment. In accordance with the agreement s provisions, the tax liability for the tax years through 1999 will be increased by approximately $1 million, which was paid in 12 equal monthly payments, commencing with the agreement date.

In addition, based on the provisions of the abovementioned agreement, the Company had a contingent tax liability to pay an additional amount (the additional amount) conditioned by obtaining certain approvals from the Investment Center regarding the status of the Approved Enterprise , under the Law for Encouragement of Capital Investment, 1959 to some of its plans. In July 2002, a second agreement with the ITA was reached, and the additional amount was set to be $ 580,000, payable in 11 payments ending October 2003. This amount completes Technologies' tax liability for the tax years through 1999, and is included in the current liabilities.

Deferred income taxes:

Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. Significant components of the Company and its subsidiaries' deferred tax liabilities and assets are as follows:

	December 31, 2001		December 31, 2002
	Current	Non-current	Current	Non-current
U.S. dollars in thousands
Gross deferred tax assets	2,478	16,034	3,456	10,904

Net deferred tax asset	$ 655	$ 4,484	$ 860	$ 3,872

SAPIENS INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION N.V.
AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

As of December 31, 2002, the Company and its subsidiaries have decreased the deferred income taxes assets resulting from tax loss carryforwards and other tax credits and the related valuation by $ 4.2 million and $ 3.7 million, respectively. Management currently believes that it is more likely than not that the deferred income taxes regarding the loss carryforwards and other temporary differences, on which a valuation allowance has been provided, will not be realized in the foreseeable future.

Provisions for income tax expense are comprised of the following:

Year ended December 31,
2000	2001	2002
U.S. dollars in thousands

Current (foreign)	$ 383	$ 676	$ 1,001
Deferred (foreign)	(2,332)	50	407
	$ (1,949)	$ 726	$ 1,408

The Company's entire provision for taxes on income relates to operations in jurisdictions other than the Netherlands Antilles. The effective income tax rate varies from period to period because each jurisdiction in which the Company operates has its own system of taxation (not only with respect to the nominal rate, but also with respect to the allowance of deductions, credits and other benefits). In addition, the provision for income taxes for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002, does not include the recognition of a majority of the deferred tax assets relating to the net operating losses of the Company's subsidiaries worldwide. The main reconciling item from the statutory tax rate of the Company to the effective tax rate is the non-recognition of tax benefits from accumulated net operating losses carryforward among the various subsidiaries worldwide due to the uncertainty of the realization of such tax benefits.

e. Israeli tax reform:

On January 1, 2003, a comprehensive tax reform took effect in Israel. Pursuant to the reform, Israel resident companies are subject to Israeli tax on income accrued or derived in Israel or abroad.

In addition, the concept of controlled foreign corporation was introduced, according to which an Israeli company may become subject to Israeli taxes on certain income of a non-Israeli subsidiary if the subsidiary's primary source of income is passive income (such as interest, dividends, royalties, rental income or capital gains). The tax reform also substantially changed the system of taxation of capital gains.

On December 25, 2000 the Company received a $5 million nonrefundable deposit, for which it would have issued 5 million Common shares if the agreement would not be approved by shareholders, or Series F Preferred shares if it would have been approved. The Company recorded the $5 million cash received as proceeds on account of shares within the shareholders' equity as of December 31, 2000.
- The Series F convertible Preferred shares were convertible into Common shares of the Company at any time at a ratio of $ 7.5 per Common share. In accordance with an anti dilution clause, the conversion ratio will be adjusted in two stated dates, but will never increase, to 110% of the average closing sale price of the Company's Common shares for the 10 trading days following August 15, 2001 and March 1, 2002. The conversion ratio shall not be adjusted to be less than $ 5.00 per Common share. At maturity, three years from the date of investment, the Company will redeem all of the remaining outstanding Series F convertible Preferred shares through payment of cash or delivery of Common shares, at the Company's election. If Common shares are issued, the redemption price will be the average closing sale price of the Company's Common share for the 30 trading days preceding maturity. The Company's intention was to redeem the investment in shares.

The investors were also granted warrants to acquire from the Company additional 10,000 Series F Preferred shares at any time before December 25, 2003, at an exercise price of $ 7.50 per share or as adjusted in accordance with the provisions described above.

The warrant fair value was measured using the Black-Scholes Option Pricing Model with the following assumptions: risk-free interest rate of 4% dividend yields of 0%, volatility factors of the expected market price of the Company's Common shares of 0.7 and expected life of the warrant of 2.5 year.

In February 2001, the Company's shareholders approved the share purchase agreement, which was signed on January 24, 2001, and the Company issued to the investors an aggregate of 10,000 Series F Preferred shares par value 681 per share, each of which may be converted into 200 Common shares, subject to adjustment, at a cash price of $ 1,500 per Series F share.

The Series F Preferred shares have all the rights of Common shares in addition to liquidation preference and conversion rights.

In addition, the investors have the right for demand registrations of an under written public offering of Common shares with unlimited piggyback rights.

In determining whether an instrument includes a beneficial conversion option in accordance with EITF 98-5 Accounting for Convertible Securities with Beneficial Conversion Features or Continently Adjustable Conversion Ratios (EITF No. 98-5) and EITF 00-27 Application of Issue No. 98-5 to Certain Convertible Instruments (EITF No. 00-27), the total proceeds were allocated to the Preferred shares and the detachable warrants based on their fair values. As of December 31, 2001, no beneficial conversion feature value was accounted in respect of the Preferred share.

On August 15, 2001 the conversion ratio was adjusted to $ 1,139 per Series F Preferred share. Following the adjustment, and in accordance with the provisions of EITF No. 00-27, no beneficial conversion feature was recorded, due to immateriality.

In accordance with the share purchase agreement's provisions, the conversion price was not adjusted as a result of the average closing sale price of the Company's Common shares for the 10 trading days following March 1, 2002.

In December 2002 the Investors converted all of the outstanding Series F Preferred shares into Common shares at a reduced conversion service of $ 4.15, and Formula invested an additional $ 10 million in Common Shares by exercising its two thirds portion of the Investors' option to purchase Common Shares. The remaining unexercised one third portion of the Investors' existing option was assigned to Formula by Yarnfiled and it was agreed that such option would be exercisable at the reduced exercise price $ 4.15 per Common Share. This transaction was accounted for in accordance with the guidelines of EITF D-42. The Effect on the Calculation of Earnings Per Share for the Redemption or Induced Conversion of Preferred Stock. No deemed dividends were recorded as a result of the conversion of Series F Preferred shares and exercise of options due to immateriality.

- c. On April 4, 2001, the Company entered into a share purchase and loan agreement with Red Coral Holdings, Inc. (Red Coral), owned by the Company's President and Chief Executive Officer. According to the terms of the agreement, Red Coral purchased 300,000 Common shares of the Company for a purchase price of $ 975,000. As part of the agreement, the Company granted to Red Coral a loan in the amount of $ 975,000 for the purpose of acquiring the Common shares. The term of the loan is six years with accrued interest at a rate of 4%, which is payable on January 15th of each calendar year. The interest amount is fully-recourse and fixed. To secure payment of the loan, Red Coral granted the Company a lien and security interest on all of the Common shares. To secure fulfillment of the terms of the agreement, the Common shares are being held in escrow by the General Counsel of the Company. The issuance of Common shares was accounted in the shareholders' equity and the loan amount was deducted from the shareholders' equity as a note receivable from a shareholder.

In accordance with EITF 95-16 Accounting for Stock Compensation Arrangements with Employer Loan Features under APB Opinion No. 25, the transaction was accounted for as a fixed award.

3. Registration Rights. The Company covenants and agrees as follows:

3.1. Definitions. For purposes of this Section 3:

Registrable Shares means (i) the Crystal Shares, and (ii) any other securities of the Company issued as a dividend or other distribution with respect to, or in exchange for or in replacement of, such Crystal Shares.

Register, registered and registration refer to a registration effected by filing a registration statement in compliance with the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), and the declaration or ordering by the Securities & Exchange Commission of effectiveness of such registration statement, or the equivalent actions under the laws of another jurisdiction.

3.2 Incidental Registration. If the Company, at any time proposes to (a) register any of its newly issued securities for primary sale in an underwritten offering, or (b) register for resale outstanding securities of the Company previously issued to a third party in a private placement in such aggregate number that at the time of such issuance equals or exceeds thirty percent (30%) of the Company's then issued and paid up capital, it shall give notice to each of the Investors of such intention. Upon the written request of an Investor, given within twenty (20) days after receipt of any such notice, the Company shall include in such registration all of the Registrable Shares indicated in such request, so as to permit the disposition of the Registrable Shares so registered, at the expense of the Company provided that all underwriting commissions shall be paid by the parties selling shares with respect to their shares sold. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 3, if the registration is underwritten and the managing underwriter advises the Company that marketing factors require a limitation of the number of shares to be underwritten, then the number of Crystal Shares that may be included in such registration shall be reduced as required by the underwriters, and the securities to be registered in such registration shall be allocated as follows: first, securities proposed to be sold by the Company or resold by such third party, as applicable, shall be registered; and second, the Registrable Shares requested to be registered by Investors shall be registered, (such Registrable Shares to be divided among the Investors, on a pro rata basis, based on the total number of Registrable Shares requested to be registered). The Company may postpone or withdraw the filing or the effectiveness of such an incidental registration at any time in its sole discretion.

3.3 Form F-3 Registration.

3.3.1 At anytime during the three (3) year period following the Closing, in case the Company shall receive from any Investor(s) holding, in the aggregate, at least twenty percent (20%) of the Crystal Shares issued hereunder a written request or requests that the Company effect a registration on Form F-3, and any related qualification or compliance, with respect to Registrable Shares, the Company shall within twenty (20) days after receipt of any such request give written notice of the proposed registration, and any related qualification or compliance, to all other Investors, and include in such registration all Registrable Shares held by all such Investors who wish to participate in such registration and provide the Company with written requests for inclusion therein within fifteen (15) days after the receipt of the Company's notice. Thereupon, the Company shall, at its expense, effect such registration and all such qualifications and compliances as may be so requested and as would permit or facilitate the sale and distribution of all or such portion of such Investors' Registrable Securities as are specified in such request, together with all or such portion of the Registrable Shares of any other Investor or Investors joining in such request as are specified in a written request given within fifteen (15) days after receipt of such written notice from the Company;

3.3.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the underwriter advises the Investors in writing that marketing factors require a limitation of the number of shares to be underwritten (or, in the case such registration and offering shall not be underwritten, any other factor arises requiring such a limitation in the number of shares to be so registered), then there shall be included in such registration and underwriting to the extent necessary to satisfy such limitation the Registrable Shares held by the Investors (pro rata to the respective number of Registrable Shares required by such Investors to be included in the registration).

3.3.3 Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall not be obligated to effect any such registration, qualification or compliance, pursuant to this Section 3.3, (i) if Form F-3 is not available for such offering by the Investors; (ii) if the Investors, together with the holders of any other securities of the Company entitled to inclusion in such registration, propose to sell Registrable Shares and such other securities (if any) at an aggregate price to the public (net of any underwriters' discounts or commissions) of less than One Million United States dollars ($1,000,000); (iii) if the Company shall furnish to the Investors a certificate signed by the President or CEO of the Company stating that in the good faith judgment of the Board of Directors of the Company it would be seriously detrimental to the Company or its stockholders for such Form F-3 registration statement to be effected at such time, in which event the Company shall have the right to defer the filing of the Form F-3 registration statement for a period of not more than one hundred twenty (120) days after receipt of the request of the Investors under this Section 3.3; provided, however, that the Company shall not utilize this right more than once in any twelve (12) month period; (iv) during the period starting with the date sixty (60) days prior to the Company's estimated date of filing of, and ending on the date six (6) months immediately following the effective date of, any registration statement pertaining to securities of the Company (other than a registration of securities in a Rule 145 transaction or with respect to an employee benefit plan), provided that the Company is actively employing in good faith reasonable efforts to cause such registration statement to become effective and that the Company's estimate of the date of filing such registration statement is made in good faith; (v) in any particular jurisdiction in which the Company would be required to qualify to do business or to execute a general consent to service of process in effecting such registration, qualification or compliance; or (vi) if the Company has already effected one F-3 registration statement under this Section 3.3.

3.4. Indemnities. In the event of any registration of Registrable Shares pursuant to this Section 3:

3.4.1 The Company will indemnify and hold harmless, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any Investor and any underwriter for such Investor, and each person, if any, who controls the Investor or such underwriter, from and against any and all losses, damages, claims, liabilities, joint or several, costs and expenses (including any amounts paid in any settlement effected with the Company's reasonable consent) to which the Investor or any such underwriter or controlling person may become subject under applicable law or otherwise, insofar as such losses, damages, claims, liabilities (or actions or proceedings in respect thereof), costs or expenses arise out of or are based upon (i) any untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of any material fact contained in the registration statement or included in the prospectus, as amended or supplemented, or (ii) the omission or alleged omission to state therein a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein, in the light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading, or (iii) a violation of applicable securities laws by the Company, and the Company will reimburse the Investor, such underwriter and each such controlling person of the Investor or the underwriter, promptly upon demand, for any reasonable legal or any other expenses incurred by them in connection with investigating, preparing to defend or defending against or appearing as a third-party witness in connection with such loss, claim, damage, liability, action or proceeding; provided, however, that the Company will not be liable in any such case to the extent that any such loss, damage, liability, cost or expense arises out of or is based upon an untrue statement or alleged untrue statement or omission or alleged omission so made in conformity with information furnished in writing by an Investor, such underwriter or such controlling persons specifically for inclusion therein; provided, further, that this indemnity shall not be deemed to relieve any underwriter of any of its due diligence obligations; provided, further, that the indemnity agreement contained in this subsection 3.4.1 shall not apply to amounts paid in settlement of any such claim, loss, damage, liability or action if such settlement is effected without the consent of the Company, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld. Such indemnity shall remain in full force and effect regardless of any investigation made by or on behalf of the selling shareholder, the underwriter or any controlling person of the selling shareholder or the underwriter, and regardless of any sale in connection with such offering by the selling shareholder. Such indemnity shall survive the transfer of securities by a selling shareholder.

3.4.2 Each Investor participating in a registration hereunder will indemnify and hold harmless the Company, each other Investor participating in such registration, any underwriter for the Company, and each person, if any, who controls the Company or such underwriter or such other Investor, from and against any and all losses, damages, claims, liabilities, costs or expenses (including any amounts paid in any settlement effected with the selling shareholder's reasonable consent) to which the Company or any such controlling person and/or any such underwriter and/or such other Investor may become subject under applicable law or otherwise, insofar as such losses, damages, claims, liabilities (or actions or proceedings in respect thereof), costs or expenses arise out of or are based on (i) any untrue or alleged untrue statement of any material fact contained in the registration statement or included in the prospectus, as amended or supplemented, or (ii) the omission or the alleged omission to state therein a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein, in the light of the circumstances in which they were made, not misleading, and each such Investor will reimburse the Company, each other Investor participating in such registration, any underwriter and each such controlling person of the Company or any underwriter, promptly upon demand, for any reasonable legal or other expenses incurred by them in connection with investigating, preparing to defend or defending against or appearing as a third-party witness in connection with such loss, claim, damage, liability, action or proceeding; in each case to the extent, but only to the extent, that such untrue statement or alleged untrue statement or omission or alleged omission was so made in strict conformity with written information furnished by such Investor specifically for inclusion therein. The foregoing indemnity agreement is subject to the condition that, insofar as it relates to any such untrue statement (or alleged untrue statement) or omission (or alleged omission) made in the preliminary prospectus but eliminated or remedied in the amended prospectus at the time the registration statement becomes effective or in the Final Prospectus, such indemnity agreement shall not inure to the benefit of (i) the Company and (ii) any underwriter, if a copy of the Final Prospectus was not furnished to the person or entity asserting the loss, liability, claim or damage at or prior to the time such furnishing is required by the Securities Act; provided, further, that this indemnity shall not be deemed to relieve any underwriter of any of its due diligence obligations; provided, further, that the indemnity agreement contained in this subsection 3.4.2 shall not apply to amounts paid in settlement of any such claim, loss, damage, liability or action if such settlement is effected without the consent of such Investor, as the case may be, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld. In no event shall the liability of an Investor exceed the net proceeds from the offering received by such Investor.

3.4.3 Promptly after receipt by an indemnified party pursuant to the provisions of Sections 3.4.1 or 3.4.2 of notice of the commencement of any action involving the subject matter of the foregoing indemnity provisions, such indemnified party will, if a claim thereof is to be made against the indemnifying party pursuant to the provisions of said Section 3.4.1 or 3.4.2, promptly notify the indemnifying party of the commencement thereof; but the omission to notify the indemnifying party will not relieve it from any liability which it may have to any indemnified party otherwise than hereunder. In case such action is brought against any indemnified party and it notifies the indemnifying party of the commencement thereof, the indemnifying party shall have the right to participate in, and, to the extent that it may wish, jointly with any other indemnifying party similarly notified, to assume the defense thereof with counsel reasonably satisfactory to such indemnified party; provided, however, that if the defendants in any action include both the indemnified party and the indemnifying party and there is a conflict of interests which would prevent counsel for the indemnifying party from also representing the indemnified party, the indemnified party or parties shall have the right to select one separate counsel to participate in the defense of such action on behalf of such indemnified party or parties. After notice from the indemnifying party to such indemnified party of its election so to assume the defense thereof, the indemnifying party will not be liable to such indemnified party pursuant to the provisions of said Sections 3.4.1 or 3.4.2 for any legal or other expense subsequently incurred by such indemnified party in connection with the defense thereof, unless (i) the indemnified party shall have employed counsel in accordance with the provision of the preceding sentence, (ii) the indemnifying party shall not have employed counsel reasonably satisfactory to the indemnified party to represent the indemnified party within 15 days after the notice of the commencement of the action, or (iii) the indemnifying party has authorized the employment of counsel for the indemnified party at the expense of the indemnifying party. No indemnifying party will consent to entry of any judgment or enter into any settlement that does not include as an unconditional term thereof the giving by the claimant or plaintiff to such indemnified party of a release from all liability in respect to such claim or litigation.

3.4.4 If recovery is not available under the foregoing indemnification provisions, for any reason other than as specified therein, the parties entitled to indemnification by the terms thereof shall be entitled to contribution to liabilities and expenses. In determining the amount of contribution to which the respective parties are entitled, there shall be considered the parties' relative knowledge and access to information concerning the matter with respect to which the claim was asserted, the opportunity to correct and prevent any statement or omission, and any other equitable considerations appropriate under the circumstances. In no event shall the liability of an Investor exceed the net proceeds from the offering received by such Investor.
