Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On February 4, 2015, Cellular Biomedicine Group Ltd. (Shanghai) (“CBMG”), an operating subsidiary of Cellular Biomedicine Group Inc. (the “Company”), entered into a technology transfer agreement (the “Transfer Agreement”) with the Chinese PLA General Hospital PLAGH (also known as “301 Hospital”).

Pursuant to the terms of the Transfer Agreement, PLAGH agreed to transfer to CBMG all of its right, title and interest in and to certain technologies currently owned by PLAGH (including, without limitation, four technologies and their pending patent applications) that relate to genetic engineering of chimeric antigen receptor (CAR)-modified T cells and its applications (collectively, the “Technology”). In addition, PLAGH is responsible for obtaining governmental approval for the clinical trial related to the Technology, and CBMG (Shanghai) is responsible for the costs and expenses in connection therewith.

Any follow-on research and improvement on the Technology (collectively, the “Improvement”) may not be conducted without both parties’ consent. With respect to any Improvement achieved by collaboration of CBMG and PLAGH, CBMG and PLAGH will jointly own any intellectual properties arising from such Improvement. With respect to any Improvement achieved solely and independently by PLAGH, CBMG has a right of first refusal to acquire any intellectual properties arising from such Improvement.

In consideration for the Technology, CBMG agreed to pay to PLAGH the following: (i) RMB 3.2 million (approximately $0.512 million) within 5 business days following the date of the Transfer Agreement, (ii) RMB 6.8 million (approximately $1.1.09 million) within 5 business days following delivery by PLAGH to CBMG all the materials and documents related to the Technology, and (iii) RMB 2 million (approximately $0.32 million) within 5 business days following execution of clinical cooperation agreement between CBMG and PLAGH. The Transfer Agreement contains customary confidentiality and event of default provisions.

A copy of the press release related to the above is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1. The Company intends to file a copy of the Transfer Agreement in the Company’s annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2014.
