BCE LOWERS FORECAST FOR DATA REVENUE EXPECTS TO MEET LOWER END OF 2002 FINANCIAL GUIDANCE

Montreal (Quebec), October 7, 2002 -- BCE Inc. today announced that as a result of lower than expected data and IP services revenue at Bell Canada and revised financial guidance announced by Aliant, BCE now expects to meet the lower end of its 2002 guidance for revenue, EBITDA(1) and earnings per share before non-recurring items (EPS):

- o Revenue of approximately $19.5 billion
- o EBITDA of approximately $7.5 billion
- o EPS of approximately $1.80

For Bell Canada (including Aliant and Bell ExpressVu) full-year revenue growth is expected to be approximately 1.5 per cent, rather than in the previously forecast range of 3 to 5 per cent. Industry-wide lower demand for data and IP broadband services will reduce Bell Canada's data revenue growth to approximately 6 to 10 per cent from the previously forecast range of 12 to 18 per cent.

Bell continues to focus on its productivity measures and now expects productivity improvements to exceed $600 million for the full year. As a result of these initiatives, and recognizing the lower EBITDA guidance provided by Aliant, Bell expects to achieve EBITDA growth for 2002 of approximately 6 per cent. Capital expenditures are expected to be approximately 20 per cent of revenues, at the lower end of the previously targeted 20 per cent to 21 per cent.

For the quarter ended September 30, 2002, BCE expects to report results at the lower end of its guidance: revenue of approximately $4.8 billion, EBITDA of approximately $1.8 billion, and EPS of approximately $0.45. BCE will release its third quarter results on October 23, 2002.

BCE is Canada's largest communications company. It has 24 million customer connections through the wireline, wireless, data/Internet and satellite services it provides, largely under the Bell brand. BCE leverages those connections with extensive content creation capabilities through Bell Globemedia which features some of the strongest brands in the industry -- CTV, Canada's leading private broadcaster, The Globe and Mail, the leading Canadian daily national newspaper and Sympatico.ca, the leading Canadian Internet portal. As well, BCE has extensive e-commerce capabilities provided under the BCE Emergis brand. BCE shares are listed in Canada, the United States and Europe.

CAUTION CONCERNING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Certain statements made in this press release, including, but not limited to, the statements relating to financial guidance, and other statements that are not historical facts, are forward-looking and are subject to important risks, uncertainties and assumptions. The results or events predicted in these forward-looking statements may differ materially from actual results or events. These statements do not reflect the potential impact of any dispositions, monetizations, mergers, acquisitions, other business combinations or other transactions that may be announced after the date hereof.

Other factors which could cause results or events to differ materially from current expectations include, among other things: the timing and extent of economic expansion in Canada and of improvement in consumer confidence and spending; the level of demand, and prices for, data, IP broadband and voice services; BCE's ability to manage costs and generate productivity improvements; the financial condition and credit risk of customers and uncertainties regarding collectibility of receivables; uncertainty as to whether BCE's strategies will yield the expected benefits, synergies and growth prospects; the intensity of competitive activity, and its resulting impact on the ability to retain existing, and attract new, customers, and the consequent impact on pricing strategies, revenues and network capacity; the level of capital expenditures necessary to expand operations, increase the number of customers, provide new services, build and update networks and maintain or improve quality of service; the availability and cost of capital required to implement BCE's financing plan and fund capital and other expenditures; the Internet economy growing at a slower pace than is currently anticipated; the ability to deploy new technologies and offer new products and services rapidly and achieve market acceptance thereof; the ability to carry out cross selling of the various services offered by the BCE group of companies; stock market volatility; the risk of credit rating downgrades; the availability of, and ability to retain, key personnel; the impact of adverse changes in laws or regulations or of adverse regulatory initiatives or proceedings (including the outcome of the appeal of the CRTC's price cap decision); the possibility of further deterioration in the state of capital markets and the telecommunications industry; BCE's ability to implement its financing plan in order to finance the purchase of SBC Communications Inc.'s remaining minority interest in Bell Canada; the risk that the closing of the Bell Canada directories sale may be delayed or not occur; and the final outcome of pending or future litigation.

For additional information with respect to certain of these and other factors, refer to BCE's Second Quarter MD&A dated July 23, 2002 filed by BCE with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission under Form 6-K and with the Canadian securities commissions. The forward-looking statements contained in

(1) EBITDA is defined as operating revenues less operating expenses and therefore reflects earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, as well as any non-recurring items. BCE uses EBITDA, amongst other measures, to assess the operating performance of its on-going businesses. The term EBITDA does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles and therefore may not be comparable to similarly titled measures presented by other publicly traded companies. EBITDA should not be construed as the equivalent of net cashflows from operating activities.
