FITCH CHANGES OUTLOOK ON PLDT TO STABLE FROM NEGATIVE

Fitch Ratings Hong Kong/London 30 May 2003: Fitch Ratings, the international rating agency, has today affirmed the Senior Unsecured foreign currency and local currency ratings of the Philippine Long Distance Telephone Company (PLDT) at BB- (BB Minus). At the same time, the Outlook for the ratings has been changed to Stable from Negative.

The change in the Outlook reflects PLDT's successful execution of a multi-phase funding strategy that has both termed out debt obligations and reduced liquidity pressures surrounding debt maturing in 2003 and in 2004. Liquidity pressures have been further eased due to rising operating cash flow and falling capex. Both the company and the group are now generating positive free cash flow, which has resulted in a modest debt reduction that is expected to continue in the near to medium term. PLDT remains focused on refinancing and on debt reduction to further improve its financial profile.

The new Outlook also reflects the fact that PLDT's wholly-owned subsidiary Smart Communications has recently gained permission from its lenders to lift its dividend to PLDT to 70% of FYE02 profits, up from 40% last year. Fitch expects dividends to continue being paid by Smart at a payout ratio of 70%. Another factor was the resolution of an ownership dispute that surfaced in 2002 which resulted in management retaining the support of major shareholders.

The rating action takes into account the subdued economic growth environment and the recent launch of a new cellular service Sun Cellular by Digital Telecommunications Inc (Digitel), a fixed-line competitor of PLDT. The combination of these two challenges remain a concern for Fitch, but the agency believes that PLDT's resolute pursuit of enhanced liquidity and debt reduction together with the group's leading market brands and positions should enable these challenges to be overcome. Any further positive rating action would likely hinge upon PLDT having demonstrated its ability to manage the current competitive environment by continuing its progress in deleveraging.

PLDT's rating reflects its high financial leverage, leading positions across all major facets of the Philippine telecom sector, and the positive cash flow generated by its traditional fixed line telephony services and high-growth cellular business. Operating margins have been consistent and, with further improvement to working capital management, cash flow has the potential to increase although growth will hinge upon the existence of a relatively rational competitive environment.

At FYE02, PLDT's net debt to EBITDA (excluding dividends from Smart) and EBITDA to net interest cover was 5.3x and 2.4x respectively a marginal improvement on the 5.4x and 2.2x of FYE01. Including Smart dividends these key metrics further improve to 5.0x and 2.5x respectively. Consolidated leverage (includes Smart but excludes Piltel financial obligations) and EBITDA to net interest cover improved to 3.5x and 3.4x respectively at FYE02 from 4.5x and 2.4x respectively at FYE01. The ratings of PLDT's global bonds, senior notes and convertible preferred stock have also been affirmed at BB-, BB- and B respectively. The Outlook for these ratings is Stable.
