Recent Development

On 20 June, 2011 BP announced that it had reached agreement with Weatherford U.S., L.P. (“Weatherford”) to settle potential claims between the companies related to the Deepwater Horizon accident. Weatherford manufactured the float collar used in the well. BP and Weatherford have agreed to mutual releases of potential claims against each other, and BP has agreed to indemnify Weatherford for compensatory claims resulting from the accident, including claims brought relating to pollution damage stemming from the accident. BP’s indemnity excludes civil, criminal or administrative fines and penalties, claims for punitive damages, and certain other claims. The agreement is not an admission of liability by any party regarding the accident. Weatherford joins BP in acknowledging findings by the Presidential Commission that the Deepwater Horizon incident was the product of complex causes involving multiple parties. Under the settlement and indemnity agreement, Weatherford will pay BP $75 million. BP will immediately apply the payment to the $20 billion trust it established to meet individual, business and government claims, as well as the cost of the Natural Resource Damages.
