UMPQUA HOLDINGS CORPOATION NAMES STEPHEN M. GAMBEE TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

PORTLAND, Ore. - May 10, 2005 - Umpqua Holdings Corporation (NASDAQ: UMPQ), has named Stephen M. Gambee as the newest member of its board of directors. Gambee currently serves as the president and CEO of Rogue Waste Systems, a company with multiple solid waste management divisions located in Medford, Ore. Gambee replaces James D. Coleman, who has recently retired from the board. Coleman, formerly the chairman of the board at VRB Bancorp, has served on Umpqua's board of directors as vice chairman for more than four years.

"Working with Jim over the past four years has been a great pleasure," said Ray Davis, president and CEO of Umpqua Holdings Corporation. "His hard work and dedication have been tremendous assets to Umpqua and on behalf of the executive management and the board of directors, I personally thank him for his outstanding contributions."

Gambee, a long-term resident of the Medford area, has maintained a standing relationship with Umpqua Bank over the years. "Stephen's exceptional business management skills and experience make him the ideal candidate to join our board of directors," said Davis. "His impressive business track record and roots in the Medford market are a welcome addition to the Umpqua team and further support our commitment to this region."

Gambee has also worked as a consulting real estate economist for Robert Charles Lesser & Co. and is the current chairman of the board for the Medford Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. He holds an A.B. in economics from Occidental College.
