CGI led consortium to develop systems for Quebec's ministere du Revenu, creating jobs in Quebec City

Quebec City, Quebec, September 12, 2002 - CGI Group Inc. (CGI) (TSX: GIB.A; NYSE: GIB) today announced the signing of a five-year consulting contract valued at CDN$35 million with the ministere du Revenu du Quebec. CGI will develop both the individual and company tax management systems. The goal of this initiative is to update the existing infrastructure so as to ensure a robust system which adheres to strict operational processes which will in turn enhance client service to the some 5.4 million Quebec tax payers as well as the some 300,000 Quebec tax paying firms.

CGI acts as project manager as well as being responsible for the architecture, analysis and programming. To meet the demands of this contract, CGI and its partners, Systematix and Nurun, will hire approximately 50 professionals over the course of the five-year contract.

"By creating flexible tools that are in keeping with our evolving needs, we are moving closer to meeting our mandate of better serving our clientele, said Francine Martel-Vaillancourt, Deputy Minister, ministere du Revenu du Quebec. We count on CGI's best practices to develop a robust system that clearly responds to our current and future needs."

Michael Roach, president and chief operating officer for CGI added: "This win highlights our ability to offer tangible added-value to our clients operations. This also reinforces our commitment to serving the Quebec government, a long time partner. We are very pleased and excited for our Quebec City-based team, as some 150 professionals will be working on this project throughout its duration."

CGI's Quebec City office employs over 600 professionals and was CGI's first office over 26 years ago when the company began operations. This unit serves many clients within the government, telecommunications, healthcare, manufacturing and financial services sectors.
