Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

Holly Energy Partners, L.P. (the Partnership) has completed a preliminary evaluation of the potential effects on the Partnership of the February 18, 2008 explosion and fire at Alon USA's Big Spring refinery. Though Alon has not yet notified us of the effects that the explosion and fire will have on their shipments through our pipelines, it is possible that such shipments could be substantially below normal for some period of time.

Under our Pipelines and Terminals Agreement (the Agreement) with Alon dated February 28, 2005, we are guaranteed volumes that support a minimum revenue commitment. However, under terms of the Agreement, Alon has force majeure rights that would allow them to suspend or reduce their minimum commitment obligation in certain circumstances. Although we have not been notified by Alon of their intent to claim force majeure, it is possible they could do so.

To mitigate the effect of force majeure and other situations, we have business interruption insurance to address lost revenues from our major customers including Alon. Such coverage is subject to a 45 day deductible period and has a limit of $50 million. Due to this insurance coverage, we believe the extent of our exposure to lower cash flow resulting from the Alon outage should not exceed approximately $2.5 million to $3.0 million.
