The transfer price was calculated by allocating one share of common stock of Woori Financial Group per one share of common stock of Woori Bank.

The transfer price is the reference price calculated in accordance with Article 165-4 of the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act and Article 176-5 of its Enforcement Decree, which is the arithmetic mean of (i) the weighted average of the closing share prices for the most recent one-month period, (ii) the weighted average of the closing share prices for the most recent one-week period and (iii) the closing share price as of the most recent date, using a calculation date (i.e., June 18, 2018) which is one day prior to the earlier of (A) the date of the resolution of the board of directors (i.e., June 19, 2018) and (B) the execution date of the comprehensive stock transfer plan (i.e., June 19, 2018). 5. Matters relating to external appraisal	External appraisal - Basis and reasons Name of external appraisal organization External appraisal period Opinion of the external appraisal organization	Yes The external appraisal of the appropriateness of the stock transfer ratios for the comprehensive stock transfer was conducted pursuant to Article 165-4, Paragraph 1(3) of the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act and Article 176-6, Paragraph 3 of its Enforcement Decree. Samil PricewaterhouseCoopers May 14, 2018~June 18, 2018 As a result of its review, as of the date of its report (i.e., June 18, 2018), the external appraisal organization did not find any reason to believe that the stock transfer ratios were not calculated in accordance with the method of calculation of stock transfer consideration pursuant to Articles 176-5 and 6 of the Enforcement Decree of the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act, Article 5-13 of the Regulation on Securities Issuance and Disclosure and Articles 4 to 8 of its Enforcement Rules in any material respect.
6. Purpose of the stock transfer		To establish a financial holding company structure through the stock transfer to increase customer satisfaction, generate synergies and maximize profitability, by creating an integrated system among affiliated companies and effectively providing various financial services, as well as comprehensive one-stop asset management services customized for clients based on active expansion of non-banking and global business operations
7. Material effects of the stock transfer		(1) Effects on the Company's management

The Korea Deposit Insurance Corporation (the "KDIC"), Woori Bank's largest shareholder, currently has an 18.43% ownership interest as of the date of submission of this report; however, upon completion of the stock transfer, Woori Financial Group will become the largest shareholder of Woori Bank with 100% ownership interest, and the Stock Transfer Companies, including Woori Bank, will continue to exist as independent entities.

In the stock transfer, shareholders of Woori Bank will be issued and allocated new shares of Woori Financial Group, a newly-established company, based on the ratio of 1:1.0000000. (Please see 4. Basis of calculation of stock transfer ratio for details on the stock transfer ratios.)

Accordingly, the KDIC, currently Woori Bank's largest shareholder, will continue to maintain the position of the largest shareholder of Woori Financial Group, a newly-established company, without change in the ownership structure, and Woori Financial Group will have six subsidiaries (Woori Bank, Woori FIS, Woori Finance Research Institute, Woori Credit Information, Woori Fund Services and Woori Private Equity Asset Management) after its establishment pursuant to the stock transfer.

Subsequent to the establishment of the holding company, the addition of Woori Card Co., Ltd. and Woori Investment Bank Co., Ltd. as subsidiaries of such holding company will be reviewed, and new companies are also expected to be added as subsidiaries of such holding company as strategically necessary through new establishments or acquisitions, which will be publicly disclosed when the plans therefor are confirmed.

(2) Effects on the Company's finances and operations

As a stock transfer between a parent company and a wholly-owned subsidiary, the stock transfer is not expected to have a material effect on a consolidated basis, and accordingly, the stock transfer is not expected to have a material effect on the financial structure of Woori Bank, as a wholly-owned subsidiary. Improvements in certain performance indicators (e.g., BIS ratio) and credit profile may result in a decrease in funding costs.

In addition, Woori Bank will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Woori Financial Group that accounts for a substantial majority of Woori Financial Group's assets and business, which is highly unlikely to result in an adverse effect to the Company's operations.

The establishment of Woori Financial Group is expected to lead to an efficient management structure that can effectively respond to external changes, such as changes in regulations and the earlier conversions of our competitor banks to financial holding company structures, a higher enterprise value achieved through enhanced profitability from the maximization of synergies among affiliated companies, and sustainable growth from the strengthening of customer convenience and other competitive factors.
