GOL Orders Five New Boeing 737-800 NG Aircraft

São Paulo, November 23, 2005 GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes (Bovespa: GOLL4 and NYSE: GOL), Brazil's low-cost, low-fare airline, announced today that it has signed a contract with Boeing to exercise options for the purchase of five additional Boeing 737-800 Next Generation aircraft.

In July of 2005, GOL increased its contract with Boeing for the purchase of up to 101 737-800 Next Generation aircraft, the largest agreement between Boeing and a Latin American company. By exercising an additional five purchase options, the Company increases its firm orders to a total of 65 aircraft, scheduled for delivery between 2006 and 2012. GOL currently operates 40 Boeing 737 aircraft.

GOL's new 737-800s will be equipped with winglets, which reduce fuel consumption by approximately 4%. In addition to lowering operating costs, winglets provide better flight performance, the ability to operate longer non-stop flights, and reduced noise during take-off. The 737-800 is also larger than the 737-700 and can carry up to 25% more passengers.

Exercising these options to purchase five additional 737-800 NG aircraft is important to GOL's growth strategy in South America, which is focused on maintaining low costs, leading technology and high quality service, said David Barioni, Technical Vice President of GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes. "Our Boeing NG order will make GOL one of the largest low-cost carriers in the world operating over the next five years.

The following table summarizes GOL's fleet expansion plans through 2010:
