U.S. BANCORP RAISES $1.1 BILLION THROUGH OFFERING OF U.S. BANCORP ZERO-COUPON CONVERTIBLE SENIOR NOTES

NEW YORK, NY, July 31, 2001 - U.S. Bancorp (NYSE: USB) today announced that it has agreed to sell $1.483 billion principal amount at maturity of its zero-coupon convertible senior notes due 2021 in a private offering resulting in gross proceeds of approximately $1.1 billion. The initial purchaser will also have an option to purchase additional notes to cover over-allotments, which would result in up to $165 million in additional gross proceeds to U.S. Bancorp. Interest will be paid only upon the occurrence of certain contingencies. The notes will be convertible into shares of U.S. Bancorp common stock at a price per share, based on the offering price of the notes, initially of $30.719 if the closing price of U.S. Bancorp's common stock on the New York Stock Exchange exceeds specified levels or in certain other circumstances. The notes will not be redeemable by U.S. Bancorp prior to August 6, 2003. After August 6, 2003, U.S. Bancorp may redeem the notes at their accreted value in cash. In addition, U.S. Bancorp may be required to repurchase notes at the accreted value thereof in cash, at the option of the holders, on August 6, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2006, 2008, 2011 or 2016 and in certain other circumstances.

The notes have not been registered under United States securities laws and may not be offered or sold in the United States except to qualified institutional buyers and outside the United States to non-U.S. persons in accordance with Regulation S under the Securities Act of 1933.

The offering is expected to close on August 6, 2001. U.S. Bancorp will use the proceeds from the offering in connection with the financing of the
